WILBUR REVEALS CONDITION OF U. S. NAVY!

STATE BUDGET TAKES SPOT IN CAPITOL

Lawmakers Hear Richardson Message, Then Turn to Treasury Needs

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 8.—With Governor Richardson's biennial message out of the way, interest in the Legislature today centered on the forthcoming budget.

The budget makers on the board of control have completed the document and it is in the hands of Governor Richardson, who has not indicated just when it will be transmitted to the Legislature. However, it is expected that it will go to the lawmakers either late this week or early next.

The totals contained in the new budget have been shrouded in considerable mystery, but M. Robert Braden, chief author, explained today that it will be a document of approximately 150 pages and will show both gross and net totals.

Increase in fixed charges and other state expenditures is expected to largely increase the budget this biennium.

Child Labor Law

Aside from the budget, chief interest centers now in the prospective fight over the ratification of the child labor amendment. Club women here in the interests of the measure are taking steps to prevent a move in the Assembly to forestall early action on the measure.

As soon as it is presented by Governor Richardson they plan to press for early action and prevent a vote going over until the second session.

The flood of bills is expected to reach its height next week. Many members have been consulting the legislative bureau this week on pet measures, and next week will probably see their presentation.

For Reapportionment

Another problem to be faced by the present legislature is the delicate matter of legislative reapportionment of the state. A proposal setting forth a reapportionment plan was gotten under way today by the Los Angeles delegation. Action was started last night when a preliminary caucus of the reapportionment committee was held behind closed doors. After this caucus it was announced that Senators Harry F. Chamberlain, H. J. Evans and Charles W. Lyon, all of Los Angeles, were selected for membership on the Senate committee on reapportionment. Their names will be submitted to Lieutenant-Governor C. C. Young, who makes the formal committee appointments.

President Talks Over Next Congress Plans

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8—President Coolidge and Representative Nicholas Longworth, in a conference at the White House today, mapped out legislative plans for the remainder of the Sixty-eighth Congress and discussed the possibility of organizing the Sixty-ninth Congress before adjournment of the present Congress March 4.

Longworth reported rapid legislative progress, especially with the appropriation bills for the next fiscal year and said that the administration leaders at the capitol could now "see daylight ahead."

Agreement On War Claim Is Near In Paris

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Marked satisfaction was expressed at the state department today over the progress being made at Paris in impressing upon the allied finance ministers the justice of the American claim to equal participation in the Dawes annuities.

Colonel James A. Logan reported to the department after his conference with Winston Churchill, British chancellor of the exchequer, that the basis for an agreement had been reached.

FIGHT STARTS TO DEFEAT FARMERS

Agricultural Law Makers Seek to Delay Action On Child Labor

By GIL A. COWAN
For Southland News Service
Special to The Evening News.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 8.—Marking time awaiting the announcement of committees the California Legislature today is seeing the first organization for a fight in the farmers' efforts to delay hasty ratification of the federal child labor amendment. Delegations of women from both Los Angeles and San Francisco are present to urge the joint resolution be hurried through and applauded Governor Richardson's recommendation to that effect in his annual message delivered yesterday noon.

Among legislation to be introduced is a bill by Assemblyman Harry Lyons of Los Angeles which will increase the pay of superior court judges to $10,000 annually in San Francisco, Los Angeles and Alameda counties. Assemblyman William Hornblower, chairman of the San Francisco delegation, is collaborating with him.

Political Code

Assemblyman Herbert McDowell from Fresno seeks an amendment to the political code which would eliminate non-profiting cooperative farm and fruit growers' organizations from the control of the corporation commissioner.

Thomas L. Dodge of Los Angeles proposes a bill to exempt non-residents from California's inheritance tax laws as he believes this has curtailed tourist travel. He has several other measures including reapportionment which will be the first into the hopper when his name is called for the introduction of bills.

Committees will be named Monday and work actually begun then. Both houses will adjourn Friday for the week-end.

Physician Faced With Sending Poison Candy

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8.—Dr. Franklin Kerr, 42, residing in Garden Grove, was held in jail here today on a felony charge. Detective Lieutenant Lloyd, who, with a postal inspector, arrested Kerr, said the physician was held on suspicion of sending poison through the mails.

Kerr is a former husband of Dr. Luella F. Kerr of Fillmore, Cal., who reported in December she had received a box of candy containing enough cyanide to kill several persons.

BRITAIN GIVES GROUND ON WAR DEBT

America's Paris Emissary Reports England Agrees To Settlement

BULETIN

PARIS, Jan. 8.—Ambassadors Kellogg and Colonel James A. Logan, United States observer on the reparations commission, attended inter-allied financial conference's second plenary session when it was called to order at 5 o'clock this evening.

As the allied representatives met word came from authoritative sources that the conversations between France's finance minister, Clementel, and England's chancellor of the exchequer, Churchill, relative to payment of war debts, were making no progress.

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service.

PARIS, Jan. 8.—"Our conversations are progressing normally."

This encouraging declaration was made today by Colonel James L. Logan, American observer on the reparations commission when he came from of an hour's conference with Chancellor of the Exchequer Churchill of England. The conference was held in the British embassy.

Colonel Logan went direct to the American embassy where he reported to United States Ambassadors Herrick and Kellogg on the progress which had been made toward a settlement of America's war claims.

At the conclusion of his "informal conversation" with Colonel Logan, Churchill immediately took up with Finance Minister Clementel further negotiations looking to a settlement of France's war debt to England.

A report was printed in one of the Paris journals that Churchill had asked Colonel Logan to promise the aid of the United States in restoring the pound sterling to its pre-war value. In return for this assistance England would support America's war claims, the report said. The British embassy denied today that Churchill had made such a statement to Colonel Logan.

Senate Dry Violations Probe Secretly Veiled

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—A veil of secrecy was thrown around the senatorial investigation of prohibition enforcement today when the Couzens committee opened its inquiry behind locked doors. Ambassador Kellogg Is Determined to Remain

LONDON, Jan. 8.—Stories in circulation that United States Ambassador Kellogg was to resign from his London post have made him "all the more determined to remain," it was said at the American embassy today. Weller Starts Move To Gain Ratification For Child Labor Amendment

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 8.—The Assembly was formally notified of the federal child labor amendment by Governor Richardson today. A resolution was introduced by Assemblyman Frank C. Weller, Glendale, asking suspension of the rules so that action could be taken on ratification of the measure without reference to a committee. The resolution suspending the rules carried, 58 to 17.

Senator H. A. Chamberlain of Los Angeles introduced a similar resolution in the Senate. On motion of Senator Inman of Sacramento, action was deferred.

President of the Senate Breed will decide later as to the propriety of the resolution for suspension of the rules.

The Assembly refused to delay action on the child labor amendment for one week, voting down the motion of Assemblyman E. G. Adams of Merced.

The vote was against delay, 53, for delay 25. A recess was then taken until 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, when the matter will come up for final vote.

The opponents of the measure, who voted against immediate consideration claimed to have more than 17 votes, however, and the second roll call indicated they were right.

A motion to have a call of the House, in order to bring in absent members, was then proposed by those favoring the immediate ratification, but this was voted down.

Assemblyman Adams, a member of the farm bloc, who made a motion to have consideration delayed for one week or until January 16, said this delay was asked in order to give those wishing to be heard, a chance to come here for that purpose.

He said the farm bureaus and the grange, as well as other farm organizations, were opposed to this amendment and desired to have a chance to present their reasons.

On this motion the question entered the oratorical stage. One member after the other rose to voice his views, which were for the most part, directed to the question of ratification.

In the Senate the resolution for ratification presented by Senator Chamberlain of Los Angeles, was ruled out of order by Lieutenant-Governor C. C. Young on the ground that the amendment itself was not before that body, since the certified copy then resting on the speaker's desk in the Assembly had not yet been sent to the Senate.

INSTALLING SEWER MAINS DISCUSSED

City Council and Advisory Committee Instruct Engineers To Offer Plans So That Bids May Be Submitted

The machinery for installing sewer mains throughout Glendale was set in motion last night, when the City Council, in session with the Citizens' Sewer Advisory committee, instructed Burns, McDonnell & Smith, sewer engineers retained by the city, to bring in final plans and specifications, so that bids may be advertised.

The meeting was held in the council chambers at the city hall. All the members of the City Council were present, and, in addition, Virgil B. Stone, city manager; Ray L. Morrow, city attorney; John F. Johannsen, city engineer; Chester A. Smith and J. Brown of the engineering firm, and for the Citizens' Sewer Advisory committee: Herman Nelson, chairman; Alexander Mitchell, Bert P. Woodard and W. L. Truitt.

Seek Competition

Burns, McDonnell & Smith were instructed to include in their plans and specifications provision for vitrified clay pipe and machine-made concrete pipe, so that there may be competative bidding, with a view to getting the lowest possible contract price on the work.

The probable cost of installing sewer mains in the city of Glendale was not brought out at the meeting.

Commenting on this action taken last night by the City Council, on advise of the Citizens' Sewer Advisory committee, City Manager Stone states:

Starts Big Job

"This is one of the most important actions taken by the council in months, and has consequences of far-reaching importance for the city. With the work well under way on all three sections of the trunk line sewer that is to connect with the Los Angeles outfall sewer, it was natural that the work of putting in mains should be got under way.

"The council last night started a big job that is of major interest to every resident, every merchant and every taxpayer of Glendale."

SUFFRAGE TO BE OFFERED JAPANESE

Bill Before Diet Would Create First Labor Party In Orient

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
For International News Service.

TOKIO, Jan. 8.—Passage of the universal manhood suffrage bill by the Japanese diet which is confidently expected during the present session, will mean the birth of a labor party in Japan, according to close observers.

It is predicted that within a decade Japan will have a labor government. It is certain that the next elections will see a labor party in the field, actively endeavoring to elect candidates to the diet.

A nucleus for a strong labor party already exists in an organization known as the Seiji Kenkukai. This organization was formed about six months ago and already has a membership of 3,000. It has drafted a platform and is laying plans for the formulation of the first labor party in the Orient.

Votes for Labor

Until universal manhood suffrage is accomplished in Japan, a labor party is impossible because so large a number of the working classes do not enjoy the franchise. A bill to give every man in Japan who is 25 years old and over the right to vote, is now before the diet and undoubtedly will be passed before the present session adjourns.

With the right of suffrage granted to all classes, leaders of the movement would find a chance to express their dissatisfaction with the existing regime.

COOLIDGE AID URGED FOR DRY LAW

Committee of One-Thousand Asks White House to Appeal to Public

By GEORGE E. DURNO
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8—Across the White House breakfast table this morning, President Coolidge was urged to impress vigorously upon all federal officials the importance of obeying and enforcing the law of the land, both by "precept and personal example."

The enlistment of presidential aid was in the form of a resolution adopted by the citizens' committee of one thousand for law enforcement and was conveyed to the executive by Judge Elbert H. Gary, president of the United States Steel corporation, who acted as chairman of the delegation that gathered at the White House for breakfast and a discussion of prohibition enforcement.

Judge Gary, in presenting the resolution, told the president that the citizens' enforcement committee felt a point had been reached where successful application of the dry laws was largely a question of arousing favorable public opinion.

Rockefeller Commends

Following Judge Gary, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., emphasized briefly the importance of bringing about absolute respect for the law among the officeholders of the nation. He commended President Coolidge for his personal conscientious obedience to the provisions of the eighteenth amendment.

The president replied briefly and gave his unqualified endorsement to the principles outlined by his guests.

"The people expect of their officials an unwavering loyalty to their oaths of office with respect to a question so vital to the maintenance of our institutions," the resolution presented to the president stated.

It is planned to present like resolutions to the governors of all states.

$331,000,000 SET ASIDE FOR ARMY

All Assaults Warded Off As House Prepares To Pass Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The $331,000,000 war department appropriation bill, providing funds for the military activities of the government and for the non-military activities under control of the department, is scheduled to pass the House late today.

All assaults made on the bill in the House have been warded off and the bill will pass in the shape in which it came from the committee.

It provides for a standing army of 125,000 enlisted men and 18,000 commissioned officers, exclusive of the Philippine scouts. This is the present strength of the army. Funds are allowed for maintaining the national guard, the officers' reserve and the citizen soldier training camps on a basis practically the same as during the current year.

Aviation Funds Raised

Efforts made to reduce the standing army and to increase appropriations for the other arms from which reserves are drawn in war were defeated easily. There is an appropriation of approximately $16,000,000 for the army aviation, increase over the current year of about $2,000,000.

There is an agreement between the House waterway advocates and House leaders that no effort will be made to change $4,500,000 budget carried in this bill for continued work on existing rivers and harbors improvements.

The fight on new rivers and harbors projects will come next week when a separate authorization bill of $39,000,000 is to be taken up for consideration by the House.

WARSHIPS ARE DEFICIENT IN BOTH RANGE AND SPEED IS CLAIM

Yankee Craft Inferior to British, Naval Head Tells Committee

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Modernization and conversion of four capital battleships of the American fleet into oil-burners will raise the American battleship ratio to its authorized treaty strength of 5-5-3, Secretary of the Navy Wilbur today declared before the House naval affairs committee.

He admitted this would not raise the entire navy to the 5-5-3 ratio, and he recommended adoption of his twenty-year program with new construction for next year to bring this about.

Wibur told the committee that the American battleship ratio, fixed by treaty at 5-5-3 with England and Japan, had fallen to 5-4-3 because of defective boilers in American warships.

"I have presented the matter of construction to the president" the secretary added, "who has instructed me that the expenditure contemplated and the appropriation proposed are in conflict with his financial program.

Wilbur admitted, in reply to questions by Representative Andrews, Massachusetts, that the American battleships were deficient in range and speed to the British battleships.

"We have specialized in the matter, and other means must be considered in dealing with effectiveness," he said.

Blames Boilers

Representative Britten, Republican, Illinois, asked Secretary Wilbur what was responsible for a condition that has sent the navy below the 5-5-3 ratio.

"The battleships are dealt with particularly in the treaty," said Secretary Wilbur. "We have stated their ratio was 5-4-3. This was due to the condition of the boilers in four of these ships. Three of these four ships have had this defect corrected. The Florida still has defective boilers.

"We have asked new oil-burning boilers in these ships and have held back the improvement until we can have authorization for modernization of all four. With the boilers of the Florida improved and with modernization of the ships, we will regain the 5-5-3 ratio for our capital ships."

Britten suggested that, assuming Congress would appropriate $22,000,000 for modernization of

One To 10 Years In Prison Is Sentence For Kid McCoy

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8.—Kid McCoy was sentenced by Judge Charles Crail to serve from one to ten years in San Quentin penitentiary for manslaughter, as a result of the verdict returned by the jury which tried him for the murder of his sweetheart, Mrs. Teresa Mors.

Judge Crail sentenced McCoy after denying his release on bail, pending determination of an appeal for a new trial, notice of which was served by his attorneys.

"This is a shock," exclaimed McCoy with a twitching mouth as he heard the sentence.

The former ring idol shook his body when the judge uttered the words "San Quentin prison." McCoy appeared pale and weak as he walked from the court room to his jail cell with slow, uncertain steps.

McCoy has been a prisoner in the jail since August 13, 1924, when the body of Mrs. Mors was found in an apartment, occupied by herself and McCoy, with a picture of the former prize fighter clutched in her hands and a bullet in her head.

CONSERVATION OF REDWOOD IS ASKED

Mrs. R. W. Meeker Gives Her Illustrated Lecture at D.A.R. Meeting

Mrs. R. W. Meeker, chairman of the memorial redwood grove fund, Los Angeles district, California Federation of Women's clubs, gave her illustrated talk on conservation of the great trees of California, yesterday afternoon at the meeting of General Richard Gridley chapter, Daughters of American Revolution, at First Congregational church.

The D. A. R. chapter had the privilege of being the first Glendale organization to invite Mrs. Meeker to address them and show the collection of pictures loaned her by the California Redwood league.

Because of long residence in California, connection with a pioneer family, and ardent love for the great out of doors and the giant redwoods, Mrs. Meeker gives the cause she is sponsoring a really human touch. As the slides were thrown on the screen she told of the wonderful heritage Californians have in the redwoods, which are older than the oldest and carefully guarded cathedrals of foreign countries. She told of the great beauty of the trees and of the ruthless destruction that is going on from day to day in the northern counties, where the trees thrive.

Pledge Support

Conservation has a large part in the activities of the D. A. R. organization, so Mrs. Meeker's talk was heartily received, each chapter member renewing her pledge to conserve the trees.

In keeping with the spirit of Mrs. Meeker's talk, Mrs. Clement B. Hellyer, accompanied by Miss May Orcutt, sang "Trees," the words by Joyce Kilmer. As an encore she sang "The Year's At the Morn."

Miss Ida D. Myers, chapter regent, presided over the meeting early in the afternoon. Most gratifying were the many detailed and fine reports given by various chairmen.

Christmas Reports

Mrs. M. I. Beard told of the American Christmas the chapter provided for the foreign children at Albion street school, Los Angeles, and read a letter of appreciation from Miss Louise Graff, principal. Mrs. E. W. Hayward and Mrs. Margaret Gale told of the part the chapter took in providing cheer for the ex-service men, nurses and orderlies at Sawtelle. Mrs. Gale assisted in taking the baskets to the hospital on Christmas day and told of one incident when a crippled soldier hobbled up to her and said, "I'd be willing to go again, if I thought I'd be appreciated as much as this."

Mrs. S. C. Leppelman gave a report of a reciprocity affair tea she and Miss Myers attended. Mrs. T. W. Preston gave splendid report of philanthropic work, closing by stating that $10 had been sent to the milk fund at Maternity Cottage, Los Angeles, in memory of the late Mrs. Mary Howard Gridley Braly, organizing regent of the chapter. She read a letter of appreciation from the hospital.

Plan 'Colonial Day'

It was unanimously decided that the chapter will send Baroness Otilly de Ropp to Sawtelle to give a patriotic address to the patients there.

An interesting feature of the afternoon was the first prayer ever offered in Congress, read by Miss A. Sophia Goff. Mrs. Clara Field presided at the piano during the singing of America.

Members of the executive board of the chapter were luncheon guests Monday at the home of Mrs. J. A. Crawford, 601 Beachwood drive, Los Angeles. Tentative plans were made for holding a reciprocity day March 4, to be arranged as a "Colonial Day."

ROSCOE NEWS

ROSCOE, Jan. 8.—Annual election of officers of the newly organized Roscoe Chamber of Commerce was held Tuesday night, resulting in the choice of Charles H. Randall, former Congressman, as president; W. A. Craig, secretary, and a board of twelve directors.

Announcing a program for the year, the new president, Mr. Randall, declared that Roscoe is on the eve of a development which will equal anything which has occurred in the San Fernando valley heretofore.

"Roscoe occupies a position which bids fair to make it the transportation hub of the San Fernando valley," said Randall. "Located on San Fernando road midway between Burbank and San Fernando, it is the junction point of three other boulevards, namely: Vineland avenue, a direct route to Cahuenga Pass and Hollywood; Hansen avenue, a direct connection with Sunland; La Canada valley and Pasadena; and Roscoe street a 100-foot street passing directly across the entire San Fernando valley to a point just north of Chatsworth reservoir. These streets are to be paved in the very near future, except Roscoe street, where some rights of way are yet to be secured.

"This community will grow to thirty or forty thousand population in a very few years, and now is the time to plan for parks, beautiful streets, attractive schools and other public improvements.

"Roscoe is making good its claims to be the Petaluma of the south, and as a poultry metropolis it is forging ahead with rapid pace."

Randall suggested that rock crushers are doing the community great damage by indiscriminate dumping of waste material on the highways and on private property without permission of the owners and he will take immediate action through city authorities to have this practice stopped.

TUJUNGA, Jan. 8.—Promotions in the grammar school grades will take place January 23 and the second half of the school year will begin at that time. New classes will be started in the kindergarten grade. Beginners desiring to enter school for the next term should be registered before January 23. The number of pupils at present enrolled is 410. Last year at the same time there were 386. A large number of transfers both to and from the Tujunga school have been made during the year.

Miss Eunice Buckner, who has been ill for some time, is reported much improved and expects to resume her duties as teacher at the beginning of the new term this month. Miss Hull has been looking after Miss Buckner's class.

The Service club, composed of Tujunga organizations and functioning as a charitable relief club, reports that $225 was spent Christmas for various forms of gifts to persons in the valley. There is a sum of $200 remaining in the treasury for work to be done during the year. Included in the articles distributed by the club were fifty-three boxes containing food and clothing. The committee in charge of this work included: Miss Elizabeth Benedict, Mesdames Murray, Baker, Holmes, Bell, Wheeler, Farr, Lynch, Mr. Day, Mr. Aiken, Mr. Lynch. A number of toys were also given out by the American Legion Auxiliary. Fifty-three hot dinners were distributed on Christmas day under the supervision of Miss Stella Wieman, who was assisted by Mesdames Fair, Shibley, Blakemore, Oliver, Nelson, Misses Magdo, Jenny, Eppert, Schultz, Dr. Stella Conner, Mr. Jenkins. Turkeys were roasted by Mr. Much at his bakery. Future plans include a location in some headquarters building for the club from which work can be systematically done. Officers of the club are: Dr. Stella Conner, president; Mrs. A. J. Scribner, secretary; Mrs. H. B. Lynch, treasurer; Miss Stella Wieman, investigating committee chairman.

A new attendance record for Kiwanis zone meetings was made last week when Tujunga club entertained 104 representatives of the clubs in zone 3 at a regular monthly zone meeting. A silver cup has been offered by Dr. John P. Buckley, Hollywood, lieutenant-governor of zone 3, for the club having the best service record at the end of the present year.

Mrs. Darwin of the Tujunga sanitarium is on a trip to Albany, N. Y. She expects to return by the end of this month. Mrs. Palm has charge of the sanitarium during Mrs. Darwin's absence.

February 10 Is Tentatively Fixed as Time to Vote On $2,500,000 Issue

The Glendale Union High school Board of Trustees and the city Board of Education will both hold meetings tonight, for the purpose of calling a school bond election, it is announced. The high school board meeting will be held at the Broadway High school, states George U. Moyse, principal. The city board meeting will be held at the board offices, 107½ South Brand boulevard, states Richardson D. White, superintendent of city schools.

May Be February 10

The proposed bond election is to provide $2,500,000 for school development in the Glendale district. The date of the election will probably be set for February 10, it is stated.

Only voters who have registered since January 1, 1924, will be eligible to cast a ballot at the school bond election, states Mr. White. Those who have not yet registered may do so today, Friday and Saturday, between 8 o'clock in the morning and 9 o'clock at night, at 333 North Brand boulevard. Saturday will be the last day, Mr. White states, as a month must elapse between the date of registration and election day.

Miss Ruth Thompson, 5135 El Rio, who is well known in Eagle Rock musical circles as a talented performer, will give a concert at Long Beach at the U. S. Grant hotel on January 30. Miss Thompson has also received an invitation to conduct a concert at Coronado hotel, but was unable to do so, owing to her previous engagement for the entertainment at Long Beach.

Rev. Robert Renison, pastor of the Eagle Rock Episcopal church, had as his recent guests Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Musser of New York, who are now living in Hollywood. Mrs. Musser is Rev. Renison's daughter. She is a talented musician, and plans to continue her work in Southern California, he states.

Mrs. W. L. Koethen of Live Oak View visited last week in Riverside with her mother. Her daughter Wilhelmina accompanied her.

Mr. and Mrs. I. O. Kemble, formerly of this city, now of Pasadena, recently entertained Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Carey and daughter Louise.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, Jan. 8.—La Crescenta P.-T. A. members were entertained yesterday afternoon when the state board of health picture, "Beginning of Life," was shown at the schoolhouse. Miss Jessie E. Hellings of Los Angeles, gave a talk on the duties of parents to children.

Routine business was conducted by the president, Mrs. C. W. Angier, who requested the mothers to work on the child welfare bill which is apparently meeting with a great deal of opposition in certain quarters. Mrs. Angier spoke of the honor accorded Assemblyman Frank Weller of Glendale as he had been selected to present this bill. T. A. Blanford spoke on the crowded condition of the Montrose and La Crescenta schools.

A committee of three was appointed to attend the bond election meeting and report to the members. Mesdames Montague Cleeves, R. Q. MacDonald and Mary B. Darrow will serve. Mrs. Imogen Smith, accompanied by Mrs. MacDonald, sang several numbers. Mesdames D. Nylan, H. Stimson, and E. L. Reynolds served tea. Tentative plans for a Father's Night in February will probably mature in the next few days.

The brick campaign of the American Legion post No. 288 of the Verdugo Hills will close tomorrow night with a vaudeville show to be held in the Montrose theatre. The campaign has been waged to furnish funds to erect a post home on the legion lot on the corner of Palo Alto and Fremont streets. In order to do this the public has been called on to buy bricks at 50 cents each.

The program will open with Arthur Crowell at the organ. Verdugo Hills orchestra, composed of George L. Merwin, banjo; Lala Brown Justice, piano; Harold Jackson, drums; Milo Giese, saxophone, and William Reed, violin, will play. The program includes: "Ballet Humoresque" in which George Hansen will be assisted by Eileen Karr, Leoma Crowell, Doris Rose, and Elizabeth Talbot Martin. "Democracy," a drama in one-act with Raymind Jaracki, Frank Staple and Helene Willis of the Pasadena Paragon Players; Billy Green, monologue artist; Gene Weyle, reader; drawing for the Elgin watch donated by Theo Belanger of the Montrose Drug store; "Lonesome Like," a one-act comedy by the Paragon Players; musical numbers by the Hollywood Sextet; Keaumoku Louis, Hawaiian baritone, of Glendale, who will accompany himself on his native instrument, the ukelele.

The members of the Montrose P.-T. A. will give a cup and saucer shower tomorrow afternoon at the Montrose school house. The dishes will furnish the P.-T. A. tea cupboard. A round table discussion has been prepared by Mesdames G. Terry, H. Frederick, T. Salisbury, and G. Weaver. Tea will be served after the business meeting.

At a recent meeting of the Angelus Forest Protection association two men were elected to membership. Those so honored were C. L. Mead of Montrose, and Jennings Young of La Crescenta, both of whom have served in the role of fire chief of his district. The first dance given by the fire boys was so successful that they will hereafter hold one every month. With the $100 donated by the Montrose Chamber of Commerce and the La Crescenta Improvement association, one dozen shovels, two mattocks, two light axes, six lanterns, twenty canteens, twelve knapsacks, six bolo knives and other equipment, were purchased.

The music section of the La Crescenta Women's club will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. A. Haskins on Waltonia drive. Curator Mrs. R. Q. MacDonald will have charge of the meeting.

Every one is urged to attend the meeting of the La Crescenta Improvement association to be held tonight at the La Crescenta school house.

Busses Suggested With Service-at-Cost Basis

CLEVELAND, Jan. 8.—The Cleveland Street Railway, through its president, has offered to run busses in this city on a service-at-cost basis. This condition has come about through endeavors of outside bus interests to secure a franchise to operate in Cleveland, which, it is claimed by railway men, would endanger the life of the railway company. A plan for speeding up surface cars proposed by A. F. Williams, an engineer, which now is under consideration, proposes that trolley cars should stop only at points, while busses should care for transportation between. A paving program involving expenditures of $9,812,711 is planned by the county this year.

BRILLIANT HUES TO BEDECK AUTOS

Overland Dealer Predicts Wide Reaction From Somber War Colors

A world-wide reaction as an aftermath of the war is responsible for the brilliant hues that will bedeck automobile bodies this year, according to H. H. Murray, of B. W. Sloan, Inc., 905 South Brand boulevard, Overland and Willys-Knight distributors.

Mr. Murray gives several reasons for this. First, he says, there is a natural reversion of the buyer from the somber colors that followed the war, this influence also being seen in dress as well as auto colors. Then he calls attention to the spirit of optimism and good cheer that prevails and can only be expressed in colors that are bright and gay. This demand for more color and variety of color combinations are fittingly expressed in the new Willys-Knight custom topped brougham, the Anderson custom bodied coupe, the new Overland Bluebird, Overland coupe-sedan and the already popular all-steel sedan finished in Overland blue with black trim.

Development of Ports Aim of Coast States

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 8.—Governor Pierce of Oregon has called a conference of the state executives of California, Oregon and Washington to be held in Portland January 16 and 17 for the development of ports of the Pacific coast for the handling of timber resources of districts contiguous to water transportation.

LEGION NOTES

American Legion officials of California are to get behind the Swing-Johnson bill now before Congress for the construction of the much-discussed "All-American canal" in Imperial county. State Commander Nathan F. Coombs and State Adjutant James K. Fisk have just returned from an inspection tour of the Colorado river country as guests of the Board of Supervisors of Imperial county.

"We favor the building of the canal as it will open a large territory for farming and provide more land for the ex-service men. It will also protect the farmers of the Imperial valley from the almost annual destruction caused by flood waters of the Colorado river," Coombs declared. The California and national departments of the legion have adopted resolutions favoring the Swing-Johnson bill.

The California Legislature will be asked to pass a bill prepared by the American Legion to provide for the observance of all national holidays by the state. Legionnaires from all sections of California have protested the failure to include Armistice day as a full holiday along with July 4 and Memorial day.

California American Legion posts will assemble at Avalon, Catalina Island, September 15, 16 and 17 next for the annual convention of the legion. These dates have just been set by the executive committee of the legion.

"Our aim is to take the bureau to the man," declares Walter Garrison of Lodi, chairman of the American Legion's state rehabilitation committee. In promoting recent changes advocated by the legion in the administration of the United States Veterans' bureau, Garrison will shortly begin a tour of inspection of all hospitals in California in which veterans of the World war are receiving treatment at the hands of the government. Improvements urged by the legion include decentralization, partial curtailment of the planning service of the bureau as regards the medical division and a general betterment of the medical service of the bureau in the hospitals and in the homes of the disabled.

Bearing the indorsement of the state officers of the American Legion, the American Legion endowment fund campaign is to open in a limited number of states during the present month, according to word received from national headquarters by State Adjutant James K. Fisk.

A fund of $5,000,000 will be sought in a nation-wide campaign. The income from the fund will be used in work for disabled veterans of the World War.

SEEK LAWS ON BUILDING OF HIGHWAYS

Motorists Watching State Legislature; Funds for Work Are Lacking

With the state Legislature in the preliminary stages of its biennial activity, interest in Southern California is centering on what manner of highway and motor vehicle legislation will be framed. Owing to the close relationship between these two human necessities, laws governing them naturally are interwoven.

That legislation is needed is attested by the fact that the state is practically without funds for completion of the state highway system already planned. Only about half the roads designated as state highways have been finished.

To remedy this situation some of the counties in the northern part of the state have been urging an increase in the gasoline tax, the funds thus collected to be devoted to new highway construction. This program, however, met with a cold reception throughout Southern California, due to the opinion that it was not fair to assess the motorists alone for building roads that benefited all; that 57 per cent of such tax would be paid by Southern California, which would receive approximately only one-third of the roads to be built; and because of the expressed intention of some northern counties to have included purely local highways into the state system, thereby imposing the burden of their construction on the state at large.

Plan Opposed

The existing situation led the Automobile Club of Southern California, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and other organizations to sound a warning to legislators that this section of the state is not in sympathy with any new highway program that does not contemplate an equitable distribution of the funds raised.

It is expected that a plan will be proposed to the legislators dividing the state into road districts under which each division of the state could act more or less independently in its highway program.

In motor vehicle legislation pressure is being brought to bear to have a law enacted that will eliminate physically and mentally incapacitated drivers, and set certain standards for all persons obtaining a driver's license.

CAST SCORES HIT IN MYSTERY PLAY

Weird, Creepy Situations In Melodrama Presented at Clubhouse Theatre

The curtain went up last night at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre on the biggest hit yet scored by the Dobinson Players in their season of stock here, "The Hole in the Wall," a Fred Jackson melodrama, with a spiritualistic theme. The play will run nightly, the curtain rising at 8:15 o'clock.

Weird and creepy situations romped across the stage one after the other, to find their counterpart in shivery tremors that agitated the audience. It was a thoroughly entertaining play, and like all well-behaved dramas, laughs came when the situations got too tense.

Picture a girl who has been forced to do time in prison for a crime she never committed. To avenge herself on society in general and the mother of a former sweetheart in particular, she employs the aid of a clever band of crooks, who resort to fake spiritualism to gain their ends. They capture the grandson of the woman and carry him away.

Mystifies Audience

Now enters another former sweetheart of the girl, as good as the other was bad. This ardent young man still loves the girl, and he sets about, in the role of a detective-reporter, to get her out of her difficulties. The complications of this plot kept the audience guessing from the first curtain to the last.

Mary Worth plays the girl and Joseph McManus the young man who ultimately succeeds in freeing her from prison and clearing her name. Others in the excellent cast selected by George C. Pearce, director of the company, include Olaf Hytten, William H. Stevens, Richard Ehlers, Thyra Ruhland, Fanna Ralstin, William Chapman, Mildred Evelyn and Harry Glazier.

By the use of an improved instrument, deaf persons may receive and send telegrams through their keen sense of touch.

A Frenchman claims to have found a way of making gasoline for automobiles from the product taken from certain plants.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

All California should be interested in the proposals now being made to the Legislature to form a department of mines in the state government. Hyde Gowan, editor of Mining Topics, in Sacramento, is heart and soul in the subject, and he represents the majority of developers of the state's mineral deposits.

Mr. Gowan essays the information that the Pacific coast, and particularly California, is on the eve of a non-metallic mining era which will so far surpass the mooted record gold production that the two billions in yellow metal taken from our mountains will sink into insignificance as compared with our potential wealth of silica, clay, chalk, granite, marble, slate, etc.

The writer is inclined to believe this veteran editor has the right line. Los Angeles and Oakland and their respective environs are becoming manufacturing centers which will require the development of such resources. But it is going to take the co-operation of the state, just as it has a department of agriculture, to properly promote worthy projects which now fall into the hands of the corporation commission.

In the Legislature very few members have a conception of California's problems, due to no fault of their own, because not one person in a thousand takes the time and spends their money in learning about this great Pacific empire. They are too busy seeking fame and fortune.

Senator A. Burlingame Johnson of Pasadena, one of the best-versed members, who has traveled widely and is interested in mines and forests and water power, as well as his hobby of Chinese ceramics, likewise is fostering legislation of importance to the next generation.

Reforestation is Senator Johnson's aim in bills he is presenting this session, and they should have serious consideration. Present sources of lumber and print paper supply are being exhausted. It is the duty of Americans, who are patriotic, to so act that prosperity and plenty will be preserved forever and aye.

From Oakland comes the boast that it now is growing more rapidly, in proportion, than Los Angeles. That is good. The San Francisco bay district is admirably fitted for development. It has a wonderful back country, which hasn't been scratched except for grain and cattle raising.

And San Francisco wants to vest the control of its harbor in the bay counties in order to develop more rapidly than the state permits, I am informed. That is right, for intercoastal trade with Seattle, Portland and Los Angeles is making a regular traffic jam in the Golden Gate, which serves as a clearing house for the Orient.

If you have friends who want to make good investments, invite them to California now.

Reflections on the governor's message are in order today. The California Legislature yesterday heard what he had to say—and he wasn't the least bit afraid of insulting the journalists present, particularly those who represented views other than those he adheres to.

Therein lies the strength of Friend W. Richardson, however. He believes that economy and efficiency can be made a part of government, and several notable examples prove his theory, such as the state compensation insurance fund and the state department of agriculture.

Naturally, the governor had little to say of the State Railroad commission and he neglected that department in his message, which was read with but one or two asides. The governor inferred he might have made it warm for the opposition to his administration, evidenced by the assemblywomen who set out to claim credit for the so-called "progressive" element by first introducing the child labor amendment resolution.

The governor's message was quite business-like and not at all sensational. The only applause he got, other than his indorsement of the immediate ratification of the child labor amendment, was his attack on the "yellow press." He urged constructive newspaper work and appealed to the public to support those papers which had the best interests of their state at heart. So much for that.

Plan Installation at G.A.R. Post Tomorrow

Installation ceremonials will be held tomorrow at the G. A. R. hall on South Glendale avenue, honoring officers elect of N. P. Banks post, G. A. R., and the Women's Relief corps. The post is to meet at 10:30 o'clock in the morning. Women of the corps will arrange the lunch. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the W. R. C. will install. Both installations will be open to the public.

Silk is increasing in favor in Germany, seven times as much being bought from French mills last year as in the twelve-month before.

PRESENT GIFT TO PASTOR AND WIFE

Rev., Mrs. W. E. Edmonds Given Chest of Silver By Church Members

Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Edmonds were happily surprised on the date of their silver wedding anniversary, when they were presented with a chest of solid silver, a gift from the church at the social hour following the mid-week prayer service. Mr. Edmonds has served as pastor for thirteen years.

The presentation was a complete surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Edmonds. Following the service, the regular weekly social hour was held. During this time W. P. Clendenin, a member of the church session, took charge as presiding officer, introducing R. P. Isitt, clerk of the session, who presented the gift. Several hundred church members were in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmonds were married twenty-five years ago, in Illinois. They have resided in Glendale thirteen years. Their family includes three daughters and two sons.

Brotherhood Banquet Plans Are Discussed

Plans for the meeting of the Men's Brotherhood of the First Methodist church, which will be held Friday night, January 16, were made at the meeting of the executive committee of the brotherhood held last night at the church. The committee decided to invite the members of all Men's Brotherhoods connected with the churches which have organized for union services to be held February 8 to March 8 by Rev. John E. Brown and his staff of singers and speakers in the tabernacle to be erected on North Kenwood street near East Broadway, to meet with them on January 16.

Several hundred men are expected to attend the meeting. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock by members of the First Methodist church and a speaker of note will be present. Quartets from several churches interested in the event will be present and a community song service will also be a feature. The orchestra of the First Methodist church, which is composed of twenty pieces, will furnish instrumental numbers, and a detailed program will be announced later. The meeting will be held in the social hall of the First Methodist church.

Cold Plays Havoc On Texas Cattle Ranches

HOUSTON, Jan. 8.—The loss in cattle in this section owing to the cold weather is placed at 17 per cent. This means a falling off of 87,000 head in number and a money loss of about $2,000,000.

FAVOR BURBANK UNIVERSITY SITE

Members Of Glendale Lions' Club Pledge Support To Nearby City

Members of the Glendale den of Lions pledged their support toward securing the University of California, southern branch, for Burbank, in a resolution adopted unanimously at the meeting yesterday. The resolution, which was presented by J. R. Grey, follows:

"Whereas, the representatives of the University of California are now looking over the field for a suitable site to which may be transferred the southern branch of that institution now located in the city of Los Angeles, and

"Whereas, the city of Glendale, by reason of the demand for all of its available area for residence sites and business expansion, is unable to furnish adequate grounds, and

"Whereas, the city of Burbank is able, willing, and has offered to the university authorities an ideal site suitable in every way for the establishment of a magnificent university, and the Glendale Chamber of Commerce has already strongly endorsed that site.

"Now therefore be it resolved by the Lions' club of Glendale, in meeting assembled this seventh day of January, 1925: That we most heartily endorse the action of the Chamber of Commerce in its support of the site offered by the city of Burbank, and that we pledge the fullest moral and financial support to the city of Burbank in its efforts to secure this valuable institution, and further, that a copy of this resolution be mailed to the City Council, the Chamber of Commerce of Glendale, the Chambers of Commerce of the San Fernando valley, the Realty board, the Tuesday Afternoon club, and each of the service clubs of the city urging their best endeavors to the end that this institution may be secured for this immediate vicinity."

URGES BETTER TRAINING OF CHILDREN

Mrs. Viola Waddell Speaks Before Lydia Class on Proper Training

That parents of today stress honesty in the training of children, was the earnest plea made this afternoon by Mrs. Viola Waddell, of 1229 East Wilson avenue, to members of the Lydia class of Glendale Presbyterian church, meeting with Mrs. G. F. Snyder, 324 North Isabel street. Mrs. Waddell is a club and Parent-Teacher association speaker, and the success she achieved in New York and other cities of the United States, is expressed in press clippings and letters she proudly treasures. "The Heart of a Child" was her subject today, and she said in part:

"Parents cannot teach children to be honest if they are not honest themselves. Parents must call a halt on 'letting' their relatives and friends come into their hospitality, gushing to their faces, then calling down imprecations to their backs, hoping they would soon pack up and leave, too often in the presence of the children.

"Either send people out of your homes kindly or else extend to them the common courtesies due self-respecting people, sharing your board and sleeping under your roof.

One Conscience Plan

"Did you ever hear of the little boy whose father and mother left him with his nurse, protesting they were not going for a drive? He stood at the window and watched them pass, calling to his nurse, with gusto he shouted, 'C'mere, Tilly, there goes the two biggest liars in town.'

"I contend that if fathers want their sons to be honest they must cease having one conscience for business and another for home. Nobody can detect a lie quicker than a child."

Continuing Mrs. Waddell developed her theme by giving incidents of child life. She also told the story of the boy who gave his mother a chipmunk for Christmas. One story she told was of the little boy who prayed 'O God I know tain't right to fight but if I should get in a fight, please make me strong so I can lick the guy!'

In closing, she told of the same little boy, "who one night folded his hands and with faith that would shame the oldest Christians, asked God to watch the boat that was pushing its way up the coast in the darkness and storm, for his mother was on the boat and 'I love my mother!'

Adding greatly to the program of the afternoon were songs by Mrs. Alice Reed of Chicago. She sang "An Orchard Cradle Song" (words by Teschemacher, music by Denza), "Look for the Silver Lining," "Jesus Keep Me Near the Cross," and "Home Sweet Home."

Mrs. Waddell is making plans for giving to local audiences her lecture "The Rainbow Spirit of Youth," an interpretation of the adolescent period of youth.

NEW ISSUE FOR VOTERS

The question of whether or not the theory of evolution should be taught in the schools of California is to come before the voters of the state, it is said. A pamphlet issued by the Science League of America complains that "organized science has come into open conflict with organized ignorance. The fundamentalists of California have given notice that they propose to obtain a verdict at the ballot box for or against a scientific theory—the theory of evolution."

Rather poor sports—the Science League—branding everyone who does not hold its views as ignorant. And the league is pessimistic as to the outcome of the plebiscite, as it may well be.

The San Jose News, commenting on this incident, lambasts Science in this wise: "For our part we must own to a certain malicious pleasure in seeing the scientists forced to fight for their right to teach their stuff. The scientists have patted themselves on the back a great deal during the last few decades, and no theologian could possibly be more arrogant than some of the scientists are in laying down the laws of science to a layman.

"Science has been waxing fat and smug. She has made war a curse that may sweep the race off the planet. The wars engineered by religion were petty affairs compared with those engineered by science. Scientists have not had the proper realization of their responsibility in this most serious matter. Scientists have toadied to the masters of wealth, and the great universities headed by scientists have been as willing to use the name of science to denounce the struggling poor, the earnest liberals in political matters, as ever theologians at the head of universities were.

"It may be a very good thing, indeed, for science to have to fight for her life and for the scientists to have to pause from their laboratory work a little while to go out into the highways and byways and convert the humble folk whose brothers lie in the graves of the European war by the millions because of some of the hells which science has let loose on the world."

This scathing arraignment, deserved, perhaps, should have been offset by the mention of the benefits which science has bestowed upon the human race, a list too long to enumerate in a newspaper.

The average man, as well as many of the eminent scientists and theologians, believes there is no basis for a quarrel between science and religion and that a controversy of this kind is detrimental to the progress of both.

COURTESY AMONG NATIONS

In the making of geodetic surveys it is customary to mark important points with a brass plate on which is inscribed a warning that it is a violation of the law to remove the same. In 1920 the American coast guard cutter Bear was engaged in surveys in Bering Strait and found it necessary to use a spot on the Siberian coast as an observation point, and the usual brass plate was used to mark the spot. The spot is so wild and bleak and so far from a habitation that this plate was not discovered until recently, whereupon the Soviet authorities notified the United States government that the act in installing the plate constituted a gross violation of Russian sovereignty and dire consequences were threatened if the act were repeated.

Enlightened nations should deal with each other courteously, as should individuals. Polite inquiries to get the facts in the case precede expressions of disapproval among nations where there is a desire for friendly relationship. Commenting upon this incident, the San Bernardino Sun says:

"The irritating arrogance of the Russian official was entirely unwarranted, even if the truth is as he states it. His offensive communication is quite in keeping with what one would expect from that source, and is a striking bit of evidence in support of the Republican policy of non-intercourse with Moscow so long as the Soviets conduct their government according to its present standards."

PARENTAL MEDDLING

Dr. Kate Barrett, sociologist, says that every mother should select her daughter's husband and her son's bride. She says there are sociological reasons for this and she also states that girls do not know what they want. Dr. Kate may be married, she may be single, young and charming, but she sounds like an old maid. Girls do know what they want, and though parental advice in matters of this kind is desirable and should always be sought, too much meddling is apt to result in trouble of one kind or another. If every mother should select her daughter's husband and her son's wife, what about the mothers of those chosen? Would they always agree? Almost never. There would be conflict among the in-laws the first shot out of the box. If young women and men waited to marry until all the parents were agreed and satisfied, the institution of matrimony would fall into disrepute. The parent who tries to live the child's life for him is storing up a lot of heart-ache, either for himself or for the child, depending on which is the stronger character.

OUR INDUSTRIAL FUTURE

Experts have listed the five essential factors in the development of an industrial center. They are:

Labor.
Good transportation.
Proximity to raw materials.
Capital.
Proximity to markets.

Glendale possesses all these requisites of an industrial center. The number of our industries is at present well up toward a hundred, and yet our industrial development has just begun. Industries are at our very door, seeking admittance or waiting our invitation to them to come in. Glendale should organize in 1925 to handle the industrial situation as it deserves, for this phase of the development of Glendale promises big things for the near future, if it is properly encouraged.

ANOTHER MEDAL!

Appealing To Women

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Somehow the conviction lingers that an appeal to women must be different from that to men.

Women are regarded as sub-normal, at least as not controlled by the same canons of common sense that men are controlled by.

A woman's page or column in a paper is usually poor reading, and is devoted to trivial subjects. I wonder if any woman ever reads them.

Women's magazines are queer things. I believe that more men read them than women.

Mrs. C. T. R. Lewis of New York told the Association of National Advertisers the other day that the best way to reach women through advertising is to appeal to their common sense and not to their vanity.

On the whole and in the long run, I do not believe that women have any more vanity than men, and they have fully as much common sense.

Most of the retail trade in cities is organized for women. Mrs. Lewis said that there are 36,000,000 women in this country, and that they buy 96 per cent of the drygoods, 87 per cent of the food stuffs and 87 per cent of the automobiles.

Where she gets her figures I do not know, but she is very probably nearly correct.

As a rule, a woman comes nearer to wanting to get something for her money and wanting to get good value than a man does. Her purchases are no more extravagant than his and she is not so likely to indulge in needless luxuries.

Of course, there are a few women deficient in common sense, and with all sorts of bizarre desires. But they are not very plentiful. At least, the number is no greater than the number of the opposite sex.

As for advertising, as a rule it is better when directed straight to the intelligence of the masses. All attempts to be funny, to be unusual and to be striking are apt to overreach themselves. An advertisement is best which distinctly states the merits of the thing which it is desired to be sold, and keeps on stating it.

Frequency and persistency is the true merit of advertising.

And a thing to be persistent and frequent must be essentially sound, sensible and good.

If one can state his case in the simplest way possible, and bring out the facts, the best sort of advertising consists in doing this, and in repeating it over and over.

Horoscope

Saturn in benefic aspect dominates this day, according to astrology. Mars and Neptune are adverse.

This should be a rule under which the counsel of the old is accepted wisely and should benefit leaders in Congress who have held power for a length of time.

While this planetary government prevails industry should benefit and it is foretold that new commercial relations of great moment to the United States will mark 1925.

There is a sign read as indicating much agitation in regard to the army and navy, which will arouse many counter efforts of peace organizations.

Movements of battle ships are indicated by the aspects, which show many odd moves on the chess board of world interests.

In the horoscope of President Coolidge his Sun is in an aspect that promises increase of prestige, for he will exhibit great independence of character and may succeed himself in 1928.

Engineers and all who are engaged in construction on a big scale may have rather a disappointing time while Mars is inimical, but the stars promise many great achievements in 1925.

Bridges and new designs in railway building will be introduced in city streets, the seers declare.

There is a forecast of a disaster at sea and this day appears to be rather an unfavorable one for beginning any ocean journey.

Both army and navy officers are to be much in the limelight as the winter advances and an admiral will receive great honor.

Again a diplomatic incident that is exciting but not serious is indicated and there is to be much improvement in conditions of the American foreign service.

Cold weather will greatly affect certain parts of the country, many sudden changes causing suffering and even deaths.

Persons whose birthdate it is should not quarrel or go to law in the coming year. Business, however, should be fairly satisfactory.

Children born on this day may be rash, imaginative and sensitive, but these subjects of Capricorn usually are rarely gifted. Writers on economic subjects often belong to this sign.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE ANSWERED

Jot C. Wood Leaves To Attend Convention

Jot C. Wood, 1739 Del Valle avenue, Verdugo Woodland, left this morning over the Union Pacific for New York, where he will attend the tobacco show. Mr. Wood will be absent about a month. He is Pacific coast representative of J. C. Winter & Co., Redline, Pa., owners of twenty-four cigar factories. Mr. Wood has twelve western states, Honolulu and Alaska under his jurisdiction and has been a Glendale resident for a number of years. While in the east he will attend the opening of a new cigar factory in Philadelphia and will return to California by way of Tampa, Florida, one of the country's tobacco centers, where he will confer with growers and manufacturers.

Growing demand for iron and steel produrts in Italy has caused the mills there to get behind with orders despite that some plants broke all records for production last year.

Who's Who

The state of Illinois claims the man who now holds Uncle Sam's purse strings. He is Joseph M. McIntosh, recently named comptroller of currency by President Coolidge at the suggestion of Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury. McIntosh succeeds Henry M. Dawes.

McIntosh was born December 23, 1873 at Macomb, Ill. His early business connections were with the Farmers State Bank at Eustis, Neb., later with the Citizens Bank at Macomb, Ill.

From 1897 to 1905 he was connected with Armour & Co., Chicago. Subsequently he became receiver, later vice president and treasurer of the Western Stoneware Co., Monmouth, Ill.

During the World War McIntosh served with the rank of colonel as chief of subsistence of the U. S. Army. He served in France, Italy and the Balkans and was decorated with the Croix Merito di Guerra (Italian); Palonia Restituta (Polish); Order of Merit (Serbian); War Cross (Czecho-Slovakian).

Subsequent to the war McIntosh was appointed director of finance of the U. S. Emergency Fleet corporation. Last spring he was named deputy comptroller in charge of agricultural credit corporations.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNARD

Have you ever thought of the importance of friendship in the education of men?

"Friendship will make a man honest; it will make him a hero; it will make him a saint," Thoreau opined.

All the abuses which are the object of reform with the philanthropist, the statesman, and the housekeeper, are unconsciously amended in the intercourse of friends.

Thoreau defined a friend as—one who incessantly pays us the compliment of expecting—from us all the virtues, and who can appreciate them in us.

"It takes two to speak the truth, —one to speak, and another to hear. How can we treat with magnanimity mere wood and stone? If we dealt only with the false and dishonest, we should at last forget how to speak the truth.

"In our daily intercourse with men, our nobler faculties are dormant and suffered to rust. None will pay us the compliment to expect nobleness from us. We ask our neighbor to suffer himself to be dealt with truly, sincerely, nobly; but he answers no by his deafness. He does not even hear this prayer. He says practically, —I will be content if you treat me as no better than I should be, as deceitful, mean, dishonest and selfish.

"For the most part we are content so to deal and to be dealt with, and we do not think that for the mass of men there is any truer, nobler relation possible. A man may have good neighbors, so called, and acquaintances, and even companions, wife, parents, brothers, sisters, children, who meet himself and one another on this ground only.

"The state does not demand justice of its members, but thinks that it succeeds very well with the least degree of it, hardly more than rogues practice; and so do the family and the neighborhood.

"What is commonly called friendship even is only a little more honor among rogues."

The books for young people say a great deal about the selection of friends; it is because they really have nothing to say about friends. They mean associates and confidants merely. Friendship takes place between those who have an affinity for one another, and is a perfectly natural and inevitable result. No professions nor advance will prevail.

Valley Farmer Gives Report On Power Bill

"As long as the proponents of the all-American canal and the municipal ownership faction of the city of Los Angeles insist on retaining the all-American canal and the generation of hydro-electric energy for municipalities in the Swing-Johnson bill they cannot enact it into law," said Will S. Fawcett, of Imperial valley, on his return from Washington, in a formal report to the Colorado River Control club, representing more than 50 per cent of all the land owners in Imperial valley.

"The Swing-Johnson bill, as written, cannot pass this Congress nor any other Congress, and I may add that the Fredericks bill will meet a like fate unless amended," continued Mr. Fawcett.

"Every person with whom I talked while in Washington agreed that the one paramount issue is flood control and the secretaries of interior, war, commerce and agriculture have been requested to examine the Fredericks bill and convey to the Flood Control committee their practical suggestions for such river control. If the secretaries interested should avail themselves of this opportunity and their suggestions should be written into the bill, it is barely possible that it may pass this Congress, but unless so amended, this bill also is doomed to defeat."

Judge Lowe Not Sorry Glendale Tavern Closes

Judge Frank H. Lowe of the Glendale police court declares he was directly misconstrued in an article appearing yesterday in a Los Angeles morning paper, under a Glendale dateline, wherein the closing of the Glendale Tavern at 1120 South San Fernando road was reported. The article, after setting forth that Manager N. J. Murphy of the tavern had finally been forced to close his doors, after repeated raids by Glendale police, Los Angeles county and federal prohibition officers, stated:

"Police Judge Lowe deplores the fact that the closing of the tavern will shut off a large amount of revenue from Glendale."

Judge Lowe states that when this article was brought to his attention, he immediately called up the correspondent. The explanation was made that several words had been edited out of the article, garbling the text.

"There has never been a single word uttered by me, or a thought in my mind that would indicate I was sorry this place has been closed up," said Judge Lowe this morning. "From the first day it was intimated to me that liquor was being consumed at the Glendale Tavern, I became satisfied it was and would continue to be a menace.

"I am in favor of every step taken by the local police, in conjunction with county and federal officers, to close up this place. I am utterly and irrevocably against such places, not only in Glendale but elsewhere in California and in the United States."

First Community Sing Of Season at School

Considerable interest is being shown in the opening of the Glendale Community Service series of community sings, which will occur in the Harvard High school at 8 o'clock tonight. The program includes several special numbers, which, with the usual group singing, are expected to provide entertainment which will attract a large audience.

Special features will be songs by the well-known baritone, Milford C. Jackson, and numbers by the Lane Trio, celebrated as singers and clever players on the Hawaiian steel guitar, Spanish guitar and ukelele. Regular community singing will be led by J. Arthur Myers, with Mrs. Gertrude C. Erb as accompanist.

Next Thursday night the program will be held in the Glendale Intermedite schoolhouse, to be followed the succeeding week with a second meeting in the Harvard High school auditorium. The next session will be in the Central avenue schoolhouse. It is the plan of Community Service to conduct a meeting every two weeks in the centrally located Harvard auditorium and the intervening Thursday night gatherings alternately in the Glendale and Central avenue buildings. The Parent-Teacher organizations have been asked to co-operate in making the districts hosts to the music lovers of the city, with special numbers and a social gathering following the music. Community Service officials are in charge of the work.

Informal Program for Lions' Club Members

Complimenting the Glendale Lions club, the Van Grove Music Co. entertained informally last night at their attractive music salon on North Brand boulevard. The Decru dream pictures of the High Sierras were shown, instrumental music was given by Mrs. Bernice Brainard on the Ampico, and impromptu music stunts and dancing were other features of the program. A large company of Lions club members and their wives enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Van Grove and their assistants.

Arrange Program for New England Meeting

New Englanders meeting tomorrow night at First Congregational church, for an informal social gathering, are to be entertained with a specially arranged program. Miss Martha Cox will give recitations; Mrs. Eustace Fisk, accompanied by Mrs. William Hartman, will sing, and Mrs. Hartman will give piano numbers. The affair will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed with Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.—Advertisement.

WAR!

A Series of Seven Articles on War: With a local-civic objective by "Mr. A. Studious Veteran."

Article One

War is a contest between nations carried on by force of arms and authorized by the sovereign powers of the nations engaged in it.

The objects of war are so to deplete the enemy's resources in men and freedom, food supply, commerce and wealth as to make it impossible for him further to resist the demands of the victor regardless of justice or right and also so to retard progress and development of the vanquished that he may not for an extended period be a competitor.

In other words—if peace conditions are so seriously unsatisfactory for one nation that it makes demands on another nation that the conditions be changed and refusal is met, war is declared and fought to bring about peace again as rapidly and conclusively as possible but with peace conditions rearranged to suit the requirements of the conqueror.

None living today but knows something of the terror and desolation, sacrifice and grief, the ruthless destruction of life and property incident to war. None blames the stern soldier—he is compelled to do what he must to win, otherwise the story only will be reversed. None desires his soldier to be wantonly cruel or destructive but every right-minded, thinking man wants his country to win and likewise contemplates war with horror.

Knowing full well these terrible factors and dreading them and the aftermath, why is it then we have war? Why do we not find other means devoid of ferocity and destruction to readjust unsatisfactory conditions?

Earnest efforts by an exhausted world to attain such means and eradicate war are being made. At present arbitration, international courts and a League of Nations occupy the public forum.

There is little doubt a large proportion of all wars of the past could have been avoided and less doubt that many in the future may and can be eliminated by recourse to such mediums.

However, it is idle to think or believe all wars could have been spared or that there will be no war in the future, regardless of our desires, hopes and prayers.

To "Mr. A. Studious Veteran" there appears to be three factors which neither arbitration, right, justice, courts, leagues nor anything else whatsoever can control. These are:

First—Self-preservation; unwillingness if not impossibility of one people voluntarily and indefinitely submitting to repression and suppression by another short of being beaten into civic insensibility.

Second—Survival of the fittest: A "place in the sun"—room for increase—a place to live and be able to live—e. g., racial proclivity: the "Rising tide of color."

Third—Mental growth: Education develops racial and national letters and spirit, creates ambition, desire for freedom, begets invention, with factories, commerce and competition, which demand expansion and outlet.

These three basic factors may be held in leash and diplomacy and fair play may delay the day—and in these results we are chiefly concerned, but the day will come when no metes and bounds will stand and against this day we should be reasonably and measureably prepared.

Sixteen singers compose the chorus under the direction of Professor Tom Morgan, and Professor Emlyn Jones, accompanist. Their program includes songs, quartets, duets and solos and the voices are said to be exceptionally well balanced, the bass voices being especially good.

Ministers' Club Plans For Evangelist Meet

The subject of most concern at the monthly meeting of the Glendale Ministers' association yesterday morning was the union tabernacle meetings, to be conducted by Evangelist John E. Brown and party, in Glendale, February 8 to March 8. It was reported that everything is in readiness to open the campaign on scheduled time, in a great tabernacle to be erected on Kenwood between Broadway and Wilson avenue. H. L. Findley is general chairman and E. E. Osgood treasurer. The advisory committee consists of H. L. Findley, Dr. W. E. Edmonds, Dr. Lincoln A. Ferris and Dr. E. E. Ford.

On motion of Dr. Lincoln A. Ferris, a vote of thanks was extended to all those who have assisted in the work and arrangements made for the campaign. When the tabernacle lumber came from Fresno, where a John E. Brown meeting recently was concluded, trucks and men were waiting to unload and carry it to the building site. The thoughtful consideration and prompt assistance of the city officials came in for a very definite and grateful mention. Dr. Edmonds, the chairman of the ministers' association, has been the untiring leader in all this preparatory work.

It was decided that a letter of appreciation be sent to the chief of police, thanking the police for their action in closing the Glendale Tavern recently.

By constant immersion in an oxygen bath, a seven-months-old baby was saved from death in a London hospital recently.

Paper House Congratulates Evening News

The Glendale Evening News is in receipt of the following self-explanatory communication from Blake, Moffitt & Towne of Los Angeles, paper dealers:

"Gentlemen—We wish to acknowledge the receipt of the New Year's edition of The Glendale Evening News received by us this morning, and we assure you that we are very much surprised at the size of your paper.

After looking through the various pages we wish to take this opportunity to comment favorably on the general make-up of this issue. While we were mindful of the fact that Glendale is a growing and very prosperous community, we did not, however, have any idea that it was as yet in a position to support a newspaper of this size.

"May we wish you a very prosperous New Year, and we sincerely hope that business in general, and particularly with you, will demand that your next New Year's edition will be still larger."

The Wrath To Come

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM, Copyright 1924

CHAPTER XV

"The memory of you will remain with me," he went on, "until the time comes when I may remind you of tonight, and we may, perhaps, look for happiness. But I am a man who is living through these days with one thought. I have a purpose from the accomplishment of which I never swerve. When that is finished, then my feet press the earth again. It is then I seek Yvonne."

"You seemed like that," she murmured. "All the time I knew that you played with words. I am disappointed. You make me unhappy, Monsieur."

"On the contrary," he declared, "I am going to make you happy. I have a little surprise for you—if you will do me the honor of accepting it—a little present."

She shook with eagerness. A present! The most appealing word in the language to one of her order.

"I am faced with a problem," he explained, "which I think that you can solve. If you can I shall beg your acceptance of this trifle. If you cannot—well, I shall ask you to accept it all the same."

She looked at the morocco case which he held in the hollow of his hand, saw the lid fly open, and gave a gasp of delight. She was a good judge of jewelry, and diamonds set in platinum appealed to her.

"But it is magnificent!" she cried.

Blunn replaced the case in his pocket. A touch of his foot spelt out a warning.

"This is not for Itash," he murmured. Later on."

Itash, morose, but intensely polite, returned. Mademoiselle Mathilde certainly did her best to further his wishes. Besides, she very much preferred Cornelius Blunn.

"You are not fair," she whispered to him. "All the time you talk and dance with Yvonne, and poor Count Itash—he bores himself with me, shaking with jealousy. I am disheartened."

Blunn poured out the wine.

"Mademoiselle," he invited, "you will dance with me perhaps, next time. You must remember that Yvonne is an older friend, and when one nears fifty one does not offer oneself so readily as a partner to acquaintances. One lacks the courage."

"But you dance wonderfully," she assured him. "Come, the music is beginning. I have been impatient for an hour to get you to myself. The time has come."

They danced, talked nonsense, and danced again. Mathilde would have been more than content to spend the whole evening with her partner. Itash, too, would very much have preferred it. And yet, by some means or another, the master-mind of the four had his own way. Without the slightest apparent effort things came to pass as he desired. Professedly a little weary, he found himself sitting with Yvonne, Mathilde and Itash, with the precision of dancing dolls performing a tango.

"This is my question, Yvonne," Cornelius Blunn said simply, as he drew the case from his pocket. "By some means or other Itash, who, I believe is an honorable young man, has betrayed to Mademoiselle Cleo, the young lady whom you supplanted, a secret of great importance. I do not believe that he wilfully communicated it to her. I do not believe that he has ever committed a word to writing. Yet she knows. Now, can you, dear little friend, give me any idea how this has come to pass?"

For a moment Yvonne looked utterly blank. She seemed genuinely perplexed. She began to shake her head. And then a sudden light flashed across her face. She threw herself back in her chair and laughed for a moment heartily. She laid her hand on Mr. Blunn's shoulder. She drew his head down to hers.

"Mon Dieu!" she whispered. "It is easy. I have heard strange things myself, to which I have paid no attention. He talks in his sleep—talks—talks—ah, how he talks—sometimes all through the night!"

The little case was in her fingers. She dropped it into her bag. Cornelius Blunn sat by her side, grim and silent, a veritable Nebuchadnezzar, brooding over the terrible writing. Thirty years of his own toil, thirty years of a nation's agony, a stealthy creeping forward through the ages, the brains of two gredey empires concentrated upon one end, building and toiling and planning—these things were all imperilled, because a dancing girl had known jealousy!

Stoneham returned from a lecturing tour in the West, dispirited, and with a frank confession of failure. He presented himself at Grant's rooms just as the latter was finishing breakfast.

"I've bad news, old chap," he declared at once. "I've done my best, and I guess I've made about as much impression upon my audiences as if Pussyfoot Johnson had come back to life and were preaching prohibition once more. They won't have it at any price."

Grant pushed a box of cigars across the table and rang for a waiter to remove his tray.

"'America outside' still their motto, eh?" he observed, as he drew a chair up to the open window.

"You see," Stoneham went on, "they've never forgotten what a triumph it was for American diplomacy that our people, in those days, refused all invitations to join the Genoa Conference. We scored immensely all round by remaining outside, and you know what a general muddle that affair ended in. The fact of it is," he continued, selecting and lighting his cigar, "our people over here have never regained their faith in British diplomacy since those days. They can't see that they stand to be hurt in any way by remaining outside, and they can see that they might be drawn into a lot of trouble if they got involved in some of these economic disputes. We make our own rules now and play our own game, and we're the richest country in the world. It's a pretty hard situation to shake, Grant."

Grant was less perturbed than his companion had imagined possible.

"I've talked with Cornelius Blunn, since you've been away," he announced, "I've heard the same story from him. I believe he's right. I believe you're right. I believe that if the matter were to be decided upon today, the invitation to join the Pact would be rejected by an overwhelming majority. Fortunately, the meeting of the Limitation of Armaments is to come first."

"Sure, but what difference does that make?" Stoneham enquired.

DOBINSON PLAYERS

Glendale theatre-goers were treated to a real thrill last night at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre, when the Dobinson Players presented for the first time their new offering, "The Hole in the Wall," a weird mystery melodrama bearing on mysticism. Mary Worth, who portrayed the role of Jean Oliver, did excellent work and Joseph McManus, as the reporter-detective who runs the crook gang to earth, further distinguished himself. Olaf Hytten, in the role of "The Fox," leader of the gang, was equally good.

"The Hole in the Wall" will be presented tonight and every night for the balance of the week, the curtain rising at 8:15 o'clock. The author, Fred Jackson, is noted for the large number of New York hits he has written. He has never turned out a more exciting and genuinely interesting play than the present offering.

THE GATEWAY

New York's Chinatown is a shadow of the past. San Francisco's Barbary Coast is gone forever. And even London's Limehouse district, famed by Thomas Burke's "Limehouse Nights" and W. B. Maxwell's "The Ragged Messenger," has changed. But the movie will ever record their glamour.

When Edwin Carewe was about to produce "Madonna of the Streets," featuring Nazimova and Milton Sills, he sent his technical director, Jack Schultze, to London to study architectural settings of the Limehouse district.

"Madonna of the Streets" is the motion picture name of Maxwell's "The Ragged Messenger," and Schultze, having read the novel, expected to find all the glamorous and underworld romance that is the Limehouse of fiction. But he was disappointed.

Limehouse was once just as Burke and Maxwell portrayed it, but since the war it has not been the same. The old buildings, the narrow streets—in fact, all the settings—have changed.

Schultze, however, was able to copy the settings, and Carewe has peopled them with the characters of old. "Madonna of the Streets," which will be the feature attraction at the Gateway Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, breathes the spirit of what was once Limehouse, probably the most famous Chinatown in all the world.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE FLUFF POD

"Yo, ho! Yo, ho! I know something you don't know!" gleefully sang Baby Bunty one day as she jumped up the steps of Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow and rang the bell.

"Yes, Bunty, what is it you know that I don't know " asked Mr. Longears, as he twinkled his pink nose, to make sure it hadn't grown stiff in the night.

"I'm coming to stay at your house for a visit. You didn't know that, did you, Uncle Wiggily?" asked the tiny rabbit girl who was always playing some trick or other.

"No, I didn't know that," admitted the bunny uncle. "But I'm glad to have you visit us, Beauty," he went on; "aren't we, Nurse Jane?" he asked, as his muskrat lady housekeeper came to the door.

"Aren't we what?" Nurse Jane wanted to know, for she was a bit hard of hearing that morning.

"Aren't we glad to have Bunty with us?" asked Mr. Longears.

"Oh, yes—of course—I suppose so," sighed Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, and Baby Bunty was so busy, tickling Uncle Wiggily under the chin with her clean pocket handkerchief, that she never noticed what a funny look there was in Nurse Jane's face.

However, nothing ever bothered Baby Bunty, and so she hopped into the bungalow to stay for a few days. Bunty was a little orphan rabbit girl and she lived around among the different animal families of Woodland taking turns with each one.

"And it's your turn to amuse me now!" laughed Bunty as she gave the rabbit gentleman a teeny weeny pinch on his left ear.

"You musn't do that, Bunty!" chided Nurse Jane. "If you stay here you must be good."

"I will," promised Bunty. And the only thing she did that day was to put salt in the sugar bowl and turn the molasses jug upside down. "And that wasn't really anything," said Bunty, when Nurse Jane scolded her. "I could have done lots more than that if I had wanted to be real spiffy like."

Well, that night, about 12 o'clock, Nurse Jane and Uncle Wiggily were awakened by hearing Bunty crying in her room.

"What's the matter " asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I—now—I got the toot—toot—tooth ache!" sobbed Bunty. "I got a hole in one of my teeth, and I guess some sweet molasses got in the hole and now it aches."

"Which aches, Bunty—the hole or the tooth?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Both of 'em ache!" cried Bunty.

"You'll have to go to the dentist's tomorrow," said Nurse Jane.

"Please don't talk about that now!" begged Bunty. "Can't you put some cotton in my tooth—some cotton with some cloves on or hot cinnamon or something to stop the pain? Can't you?"

"I'll do it," offered Uncle Wiggily. He found some toothache drops in the bath room, but not a bit of cotton could he find. And Bunty's tooth was aching harder all the while. Then, at last, Uncle Wiggily remembered that, growing outside the back door, he had seen that day an old, dried milkweed plant. On the plant was a dried pod, and inside the pod was some fluffy stuff, like cotton.

"I'll get the fluff pod for Bunty's aching tooth," said the bunny. Down to the back door he hopped, and as he opened it, the Fuzzy Fox was waiting to catch the bunny. But Uncle Wiggily spilled some tooth drops in the eyes of the bad chap.

"Oh, wowzie, wowzie, wow," howled the Fox, holding a paw over his smarting eyes as he ran off in the darkness. Then the bunny picked a fluff pod, took some of the soft cotton out and when it had been put in Bunty's hollow tooth, with the hot drops on, all the pain went away and she fell asleep. So did Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane.

And if the automobile doesn't turn upside down like the pepper caster and sneeze gasoline all over the crosswalk, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the icicles.

HIGHWAY HEAD REPORTS ON ACTIVITIES

Gasoline Tax Helps Out Road Reconstruction Program, Claim

The most important event of the last biennium, as far as state highway building is concerned, was the enactment of the gasoline tax law, says State Highway Engineer R. M. Morton in his report to the California Highway commission and made a part of its biennial report to Governor Richardson.

Returns from this tax, Mr. Morton points out, have made possible a greatly expanded reconstruction program as well as more thorough maintenance of state highways, including much betterment work of permanent nature.

To facilitate the work, a complete reorganization of the engineering forces has taken place, Mr. Morton tells the commission, including the formation of three new divisions and the creation of well defined departments at the Sacramento headquarters for closer cooperation with the field forces and greater efficiency.

Despite these changes, overhead charges show a decline as compared with the previous biennium. Contract prices also have declined, Mr. Morton reports. Average grading costs dropped from 78 cents to 74 cents per cubic yard; cement concrete from $15.75 per cubic yard to $13.40.

Traffic counts are being taken at regular intervals and are studied in planning future construction and maintenance. A system of permanent maintenance stations under state ownership is being established. A change in policy has been made regarding surveys which are not now undertaken too far in advance of construction for the reason that former surveys have had to be discarded because of changes in standards between the time of the survey and actual construction.

Extensive research work has been undertaken and daily laboratory tests are made of materials used on paving contracts.

To bring about a saving in the cost of the accounting, Mr. Morton recommends legislation to decrease the number of funds and make possible a simplification of the accounting system.

Discussing the completion of the state highway system, Mr. Morton says:

"With 3,700 miles of the present California highway system on which construction of one kind or another must be done at an estimated cost of at least $200,000,000, it is obvious that an average expenditure of $20,000,000 per year on new construction only would complete the work as now outlined in a period of ten years.

"It probably would be unwise to attempt the completion of the Crossing the border into Lower California no longer holds the perils it once held. The roads are greatly improved and hundreds of signs have been posted by the Automobile Club of Southern California. Over 347 miles have been so posted, according to a check recently completed.

South of Tia Juana to Ensenada, a distance of seventy-one miles and thence to La Grulla Gun club, fourteen miles farther, are found the auto club signs in English. The road from Ensenada to Mexicali, a distance of 132 miles, and the road along the border in Mexico from Tia Juana to Mexicali via Tecate, a distance of 130 miles also are signed. There have been 392 signs placed.

Signs are now in the making for the road from Mexicali to Yuma via Algodones, a distance of seventy-one miles. When this work is completed, all principal roads in Lower California will have been signed by the auto club.

NEW TIRES SOLD BY LOCAL AGENCY

California Representatives Appoint Smith Co. To Handle Product

Announcement has been made by Max Shiffner, president of Commercial Tire Co., Los Angeles, San Francisco and Long Beach, California representatives for Viking tires, that the Smith Tire Co., 239 South Brand boulevard, is now selling these tires in the Glendale territory.

Irwin Smith, proprietor of the firm, is very enthusiastic about the Viking line, saying these cords are made of extremely heavy tread and sidewall and have a very large air space, giving them exceptionally easy riding qualities.

Taking their name from the hardy Norsemen of the years when "Lief the Lucky" was winning fame for his daring exploration of the west Atlantic, Viking tires, according to Mr. Smith, are fittingly described in the word Viking itself.

AUTO LEADERS PREDICT BIG BUSINESS

General Motors, Studebaker Heads See Prosperity For Industry

Herewith a survey of the outlook in the automobile industry by the presidents of two of the largest manufacturers of cars in the country:

By ALFRED P. SLOAN
President of General Motors Corporation. Written Especially for International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—The automobile industry should enter 1925 with the greatest confidence. Prosperity of the farmer and the wage earner add greatly to the prosperity of the industry. Conditions, both economic and psychological, are such that the purchasing power of both should equal or be greater than 1924. This insures a good volume of business. As is generally known, 1923 was the largest year in our history. This year sales to consumers have been slightly less than last year. I see no reason why 1925, using the same measure, should not be equal to 1923.

Demand at Normal

As to General Motors, we enter the new year with our dealers at a normal level in relation to current consumers' demand. We have sacrificed profits in 1924 to effect this purpose, but we believe it was sound business. The carrying of unreasonable stocks in the field is simply an economic loss for which the consumer must pay in the final analysis.

We heard a great deal about the stability of the automotive industry. I think progress has been made in that direction during the year just closed.

The tremendous increases in production which the industry has enjoyed during its development stage are certainly not going to continue at anywhere near the same pace. The problem now is to eliminate all possible waste in manufacturing and distribution. I am confident a more satisfactory business, taken on the whole, will be developed on that foundation with profits well maintained.

Studebaker Executive Sees Prosperity

By A. R. ERSKINE
President of Studebaker Corporation. Written for International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—In my opinion all the fundamentals which underlie prosperity exist at this time. We have a sound government, cheap money, easy credit and good prices for products of industry and agriculture. The mental attitude of the nation is one of confidence and optimism. Wages are good and unemployment is negligible. European conditions are improving and the foreign trade is increasing. If we avoid over-production 1925 will be a most prosperous year.

GLENDALE MOTOR FIRM'S BIRTHDAY

Dealers In Chrysler And Maxwell Cars Celebrate Third Busy Week

This is birthday week at Glendale Motor Car Co., 124 West Colorado boulevard, and a birthday cake with a single gleaming candle was on display in its windows Monday. A public reception was held and a showing made of Chrysler cars, the occasion being the first anniversary of Chrysler's appearance on the market.

"The secret of Chrysler's success," said Lyman Clark, president of Glendale Motor Car Co., "is simply this—the Chrysler has finally fulfilled a long-felt motoring need. With its low compact design, it has afforded people a relief from high bulkiness. With its sparkling performance, it has given them a contrast to the sluggishness of other cars. With its cradling comfort, it has been a revelation to those who believe such comfort could be secured only from a car of much greater size and weight.

All Classes Buy

"All types of motor car buyers have been awaiting for such results and when the Chrysler came it naturally invaded all classes. An inspection of the list of Chrysler owners here in Glendale is sufficient testimony."

Glendale Motor Car Co's. celebration was similar to those held throughout the nation by Chrysler dealers. It is interesting to note that the National Automobile show, now going on in New York, took the form of a double celebration—the silver jubilee of this country's first auto show and the first birthday of the Chrysler.

Yes, You Must Secure New License Plates and This Story Gives You Details On Just How To Go About It

Here is the way to secure renewal of your automobile license for 1925.

This information is final and authoritative, coming from Will H. Marsh, chief of the state division of motor vehicles, and approved by Attorney General Webb. Follow directions carefully and you will have no trouble in securing your new license.

First, the renewal period begins February 1 and closes at midnight, March 2. There will be a penalty of 100 per cent, or a doubling of the regulation fee of $3 for passenger cars, if renewal is not made within that period.

If you are both the registered and legal owner of the car, you should have a white certificate of registration and a pink ownership certificate. See that both are filled out legibly, with your correct address given. Mail them both, together with an amount of $3, to the State Motor Vehicle Dept., Sacramento, Calif. Your plates will then be sent you promptly.

The pink certificate must accompany the white if you are the legal and registered owner. If you have lost or misplaced the pink certificate, apply with the white certificate of registration, enclosing a note to that effect.

Branch offices of the motor vehicle department will issue plates only to those presenting both white and pink certificates. They will receive applications presented with white registration certificates and forwarwd them to Sacramento for verification. In the latter case plates will be sent from Sacramento after the registration has been checked.

The following applies to motorists who are the registered owners of their machines, but not the legal owners. The pink certificates in these cases is held by the legal owner of the car, usually a dealer or finance company.

If you belong to this class, send your white registration certificate, with the fee of $3, to the address given above, or apply at a branch office. Remember that the branch office will not issue plates in this case, but only take your white certificate and fee and send them to Sacramento for verification. You will be given a receipt.

The registered owner may also go to the legal owner of his car and present to him the white registration certificate and $3 fee. The legal owner will then forward both the white and pink certificate and the fee to Sacramento and receive the plates by mail. It is unlawful for the legal owner to charge a fee of his own for this transaction. The required fee of $3 is all that he is authorized to accept.

It is not compulsory for the registered owner to apply for renewal through the legal owner. He may deal directly with the vehicle department, as explained above.

In every case where both the white and pink certificates are sent in or presented for renewal of the license, plates will be mailed or handed out immediately. Some delay will be caused in the renewal of licenses applied for with the white certificates only, as the checking process is extremely complicated.

Automobile clubs will act as branch offices of the vehicle department. The same rules will apply in the motorist's dealing with them.

Further information can be obtained at the license department of the Automobile Club of Southern California, which has arranged to handle applications for its members and visiting motorists from other states.

AUTOISTS PAY MILLIONS IN STATE TAX

California Highway Body In Reports Shows Total For Past Year

By SPARE TIRE
Of The Evening News Staff.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8.—Income of the California highway commission for reconstruction and maintenance during 1924 totalled $8,825,101.67, according to a statement issued today by officials here of the state motor vehicle department. This represents the state's half of the motor vehicle license fees and the gasoline tax, divided as follows:

License fees, $2,762,028.92; gasoline tax, $6,063,072.75.

In February the motor vehicle fees for the last half of 1924 will be apportioned and it is expected the state's share will be $564,000.

Outstanding Taxes

An amount equal to that received by the state from the motor vehicle fees and the gasoline tax has been divided among the counties of the state in proportion to the number of registered automobiles.

Delinquent gasoline taxes at the present time total $769,744.48, according to officials here. Ultimate collection of this sum depends upon the decision given in suits now pending in courts.

The funds received by the state highway commission from the two sources are reserved by law for maintenance and reconstruction of existing state highways and cannot be used for new construction.

After a bus driver in London refused to proceed with his bus until a woman carrying a pet monkey got out, the woman was arrested and charged with blocking the traffic.

One thousand freight cars probably will be ordered by the state railways of Italy this year.

DEMAND MORE HIGHWAYS IN ALL STATES

Biggest Problem How Much Additional Tax Can Be Raised For Roads

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Death and taxes, these sure factors of American life, are always in the business background. But the legislatures of various states are going to drag them into the limelight just as soon as they get down to business for their 1925 sessions, through legislation affecting the motorist. Road and street congestion, with consequent traffic with its deaths, has become a tremendous factor in the national waste.

More roads and better roads are being demanded in every section of the nation and this has an immediate reflection on the taxes which residents of each state, county and municipality must pay. Every state has hundreds of millions of dollars tied up in automobiles and highway systems, present methods of financing new roads, motor patrols and police regulation are inadequate to protect either the motorist or the pedestrian.

System Is Needed

In the past, development of highways has been somewhat haphazard and the burden of their financing has been somewhat unequally divided. Permanent plans for development and financing probably will be adopted by many states within the next few months.

California, for example, has more than a billion dollars tied up in automobiles. An average daily expenditure of $1 a day per car would mean spending of approrimately $500,000,000 a year in replacements, repair bills, gasoline, tires, parking fees and taxes to say nothing of fines. The California highway commission, after a tour lasting eleven weeks, has formulated a report to Governor Richardson which will be submitted to the Legislature for action.

Bond issues, it is pointed out by economists in many sections, cannot be retired fast enough to keep pace with the demand for new highways and replacements. Sparsely populated states are looking to the state authorities for aid. Populous sections declare an undue proportion of taxation is being borne by them. Oil companies are fighting against a gasoline tax and automobile dealers, manufacturers and owners are opposing excessive burdens being loaded on their shoulders. These are all questions which must be settled at least in part by the state solons.

Tax Situation

State and local taxes have increased nearly 15 per cent since 1923 but in the same period federal taxes have decreased 27 per cent and the national income has so increased in that time that the

Autoists Back Motor Vehicle Laws for 1925

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 7.—The 1925 legislature will be asked to pass a motor vehicle bill and highway financing program having the unanimous backing of the motor vehicle conference. Conferences of special committees of the organization terminated today and the executive committee will meet to ratify reports next Monday, according to D. V. Nicholson, assistant secretary of the California State Automobile association, who is secretary of the conference.

It was indicated that the conference would not recommend an increase in the state gasoline tax as a means of financing highway construction but would urge a continuance of the present system of bond issues.

Lights operating from the magneto are banned and must be replaced with electric or acetylene lights, according to a bulletin issued from Chief Marsh's office. Stoplights and spotlights are permissible, provided they are of the approved types. Blue bulbs are allowed, if they are of twenty-one candlepower and are so marked on the metal base.

Home made signaling devices are allowed, provided they indicate clearly the direction of the turn, and provided they are not offered for sale, the bulletin sets forth.

Mr. Towman advises those who are in doubt to stop in at an official headlight adjusting station and have their lights made to comply with the law.

Auto Builders Speed Up For New Business

More Highways Now Is National Problem

amount of its paid-in taxes has decreased about 33 1-3 per cent. There is every indication, if the promises of the present administration are fulfilled, that federal taxes will continue to decrease. But there is also evidence that state, county and municipality taxes must increase to meet new demands.

This increase has grown continuously since 1919 in which year state and local governing bodies borrowed $691,000,000. In the first eleven months of 1924 this sum had increased to $1,289,000,000 with corresponding advances in tax payments. The question in 1925 will be not how much the traffic will bear but how much traffic will demand. Each section must determine on the basis of its own financial standing just what additional sums may be borrowed.

Tax on Farmer

There is a small doubt that this borrowing and consequent expenditure on roads will yield a profit. Good roads have been proved to yield a return equal to that of the best and most conservative industrial investments. About one-fifth of the entire state and local bonded debt of the country has been incurred for road building but this has yielded a direct return to shippers of merchandise, the opening of new areas to cultivation and the lessening cost of transporting crops to market.

Nevertheless the farmer has carried a heavy tax burden. Taxes on the average farm in the last year absorbed nearly 17 per cent of the net farm returns, according to the Sears Roebuck agricultural foundation, which bases this statement on reports from 16,182 farmers in various sections. Taking Indiana as a criterion, 47.5 cents of the average tax dollar was spent for the support of education, 27.8 cents for highway construction and maintenance and the remainder for general costs of government, benevolent institutions and miscellaneous expenditures.

Auto License Privilege Given To Club Members

man states. These slips will be forwarded by the club to Sacramento, where they will be held until February 1, when 1925 licenses will be issued.

Mr. Towman has received word from headquarters in Los Angeles that 5,000 sets of new plates for pleasure cars will be available for the Glendale office. There will also be about 2,000 sets of commercial plates available, he states.

Automobiles registered before February 1 will be charged the full 1925 fee, according to a bulletin received from W. H. Marsh, chief of the Division of Motor Vehicles, Sacramento.

Requirements

Another bulletin from Mr. Marsh's department, issued through C. K. Harden, chief inspector, and dated January 2, states in part: "It is necessary that we have the pink certificate with the fee . . . and it will be necessary for the registered owner to forward his fee to the legal owner, who will in turn forward the same to this department, with the pink certificate."

It will not be necessary for motorists to follow this ruling, if they will apply for their 1925 licenses through the Automobile Club of Southern California, Mr. Towman states. Arrangements have been completed to handle applications and issue plates without the pink slip, and the receipts that are to be given in exchange for the white slips have already been printed and sent out, he adds.

Mr. Towman admits that the Division of Motor Vehicles has issued confusing bulletins on the pink and white slips but denies that there is any controversy over the matter. To avoid all doubt, he urges motorists to let the Glendale branch of his organization assist them to get their new licenses and plates, the service being free of charge.

CAR DEALERS TO HOLD SHOW HERE

First Event Is Planned for March; Committees to Meet January 14

Glendale will have its first automobile show under the auspices of Glendale Auto Dealers' association about March 1, according to an announcement made by Lyman P. Clark, president of the organization, and preliminary plans indicate this will be one of the big events in automotive circles in Southern California.

Committees will be appointed this week and these committees will assemble at a meeting called for Wednesday, January 14, when details will be worked out, location for the show selected, sub-committees and workers appointed and plans completed. Glendale had an auto show a few years ago, but this was held by local dealers individually and not under the direction of the association.

The Glendale Auto Dealers' association was formed May 1, 1922, with a membership of seven dealers and has since grown to over twenty members and has become one of the most important organizations in the city. Their efforts in the contemplated show are expected to eclipse anything of its kind in Southern California cities. Lyman P. Clark is president; Don Packer, vice-president, and Millard B. Towman, secretary and treasurer.

John Cate to Speak On School Matters

John Cate, business manager of Glendale city schools, is to speak on school matters tomorrow night at the "Fathers' Night" to be held at Colorado school, under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher association. The meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock and in addition to Mr. Cate's talk, there will be entertainment by pupils of Miss Wilson's and Miss Fambrough's classes. Later there will be an informal social hour.

Fresh fruit was considered to be a luxury in Norway, Sweden and Denmark before the war, but now is believed to be a necessary part of the daily diet there.

CHRYSLER MAKES RECORD IN TEST

Ralph DePalma Drives 1000 Miles In 786 Minutes At Culver City

The supremacy of the stock Chrysler over the 1000-mile distance is still supreme, according to the following telegram received by Lyman P. Clark, local dealer, at 124 West Colorado street, following Ralph De Palma's record-breaking spin in an absolutely stock car that had been geared up to a 3.75-to-1 ratio. The wire was filed after De Palma had covered the 1000 miles on the Culver City speedway at an average speed of 76.32 miles an hour. The telegram follows:

"Our birthday gift to the Chrysler. Today Culver City speedway, Ralph DePalma driving absolutely stock Chrysler touring, except with special gear ration 3.75-to-1, made 1000 miles in 786 minutes 6 1-5 seconds total elapsed time, averaging 76.32 miles per hour with absolutely no mechanical adjustment, tire changes or even addition of water. Timed, but not certified as to stock by A. A. A. Car given committee of Dealers' association for stock verification. This non-trophy event beating previous record of 848 minutes 31 4-5 seconds with average of 70.71 miles per hour made by competing car with similar gear ratio. Chrysler still holds Los Angeles Times' trophy for fastest 1000 miles made by absolutely stock touring with standard gear ratio."

Louise Dresser Will Appear In New Film

Glendale friends of Mrs. Jack Gardner of 125 West Mountain street, known professionally as Louise Dresser, are sharing in her happiness in her selection to portray the title role of "The Goose Woman," by Rex Beach, which will be Clarence Brown's next production for Universal.

It was rumored that Miss Dresser had intended to open the new season in New York as the star of a forthcoming stage production, but with such an auspicious beginning for 1925 it is extremely likely that she will make Glendale her permanent home. Rumors are to the effect that Miss Dresser has been decided upon for two of the biggest character star roles planned for the ensuing picture season, though these have not yet been announced.

"The Goose Woman" is considered one of Rex Beach's most popular stories and contains more gripping dramatic interest and mystery than any of his recent works.

Twenty-eight thousand people are employed in making jewelry at Wurtemberg and Baden, Germany, the industry having a boom.

Used By Millions Of Mothers

For Croup and Colds

Over 98 million jars of Vicks have been used in the past five years. This means the unbroken confidence of a vast army of mothers. They like Vicks because it solves a great problem—how to treat croup and colds without that continual dosing, which is so harmful to delicate little stomachs.

Being applied externally Vicks does not disturb the digestion. It can be freely used without the slightest harmful effect.

Vicks brings prompt relief from croup and often checks even the worst cold overnight.

There is nothing to swallow. You just rub it on.

FIERY, ITCHY SKIN QUICKLY SOOTHED WITH SULPHUR

Mentho-Sulphur, a pleasant cream, will soothe and heal skin that is irritated or broken out with eczema; that is covered with ugly rash or pimples, or is rough or dry. Nothing subdues fiery skin eruptions so quickly, says a noted skin specialist.

The moment this sulphur preparation is applied the itching stops and after two or three applications, the eczema is gone and the skin is delightfully clear and smooth. Sulphur is so precious as a skin remedy because it destroys the parasites that cause the burning, itching or disfigurement. Mentho-Sulphur always heals eczema right up.

A small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur may be had at any good drug store.—Advertisement.

GALVIN EXPLAINS MECHANICAL TERM

'Horsepower' Dates Back To 1765; Was Originated By James Watt

Many people have often wondered what is meant by the term "horsepower" and how it is applied to the power developed by an engine, according to Ray L. Galvin, salesmanager for Tanner & Hall, Glendale Buick distributors, 622 South Brand boulevard.

Mr. Galvin says to get a clear idea of the term "horsepower," as it applies to power producing mechanisms, we must go back to the year 1765. At that time James Watt had perfected his steam engine to a degree that made it practical and was trying to market it. Like all inventors, Watt found a great deal of opposition and in order to stimulate sales he found it necessary to educate people to the value of his invention.

Explains Meaning

Watt knew he would have to find some way of accurately contrasting the power of his steam engine against the power of the horse. His first task, therefore, was to find just how much power the average horse possessed. He conducted a long series of tests and ascertained that the average work horse could lift 150 pounds two and one-half miles per hour for ten hours a day or the equivalent to lifting 33,000 pounds one foot in one minute. The term "horsepower" therefore means the amount of power required to lift 33,000 pounds one foot in one minute. It has exactly the same meaning whether applied to a steam engine, a gasoline engine or an electric motor.

The device most commonly used in determining actual horsepower of a motor is called the dynamometer. In testing an automobile for actual horsepower the gasoline engine and the electric dynamo are hitched together. The gasoline engine is started and its capacity for work is determined by suitable resistance and measuring instruments, and in this way the actual horsepower determined.

Little mirrors were used as periscopes in a crowd at a celebration in England.

HEAVY DEMANDS FOR NEW MODELS

Hupmobile Eight-In-Row Is Meeting With Popular Favor Everywhere

"If you don't think the new "Hupp 8" is proving the most popular car ever on the market, you should see our order books," said H. V. White, manager of the Glendale branch, H. W. Swanson Co., 228 South Brand boulevard, Hupmobile distributors, "about fifteen orders having been taken at the main store in Hollywood and four here in Glendale. The Hupp factory did not anticipate the unprecedented demand for the new car and production is being speeded up day and night to take care of the advance orders."

The new car is an addition to the Hupmobile line of four-cylinder cars that the company has produced for 16 years. Realizing the advantages of the eight-in-line principle in its smooth power, flexibility and inherent freedom from vibration, Hupp engineers studied every multi-cylindered car in this country and Europe and after developing the new Hupp, road tests aggregating 55,000 miles were made during the past year which, they say, proved that the features that they desired have been incorporated in the car. A score of more fundamental and revolutionary features have been built into the new car. The major ones include:

The shortest, most compact eight-in-line engine ever built; more power per cubic inch of piston displacement than any previous multi-cylindered automobile engine; no "roughness" anywhere in the engine's entire speed range; compactness for handling and parking with unusual roominess and riding comfort; balanced combination of speed, lugging power and rapid acceleration; unusual gasoline economy, both in continuous high speed operation and at a steady 20-mile-an-hour pace; ease of starting, operating and stopping; a combustion chamber particularly designed to produce the highest degree of power efficiency which can be combined with utmost smoothness; design of crankshaft, connecting rods and pistons new in American engineering, resulting in inherent smoothness and eliminating crankshaft whip and distortion; tremendous flexibility in engine and entire car.

CONTRASTS EARLY MODELS AND NEW

Twenty Miles Per Hour Was Maximum Speed Of First Car, Says Dealer

This is the silver jubilee of automobile shows, says C. H. Hunter, 208 West Broadway, Glendale Oldsmobile distributor, as it is just 25 years since the first automotive exhibit was held in this country. Achievements made during these years have been remarkable, and even the most forward-looking engineers hesitate to hazard a guess to what the product will be like in 1950, he said.

"Memory faintly recalls the early product of the infant automobile industry as little contraptions that made a lot of noise—when they would run," he added. "The first company to manufacture automobiles commercially was the Olds Motor works, Lansing, Mich., which for a period of 28 years has been making and selling Oldsmobiles. In the 'horseless age,' which was the first name of automotive industries, the first automobile trade publication of February 12, 1902, gave a description of the Oldsmobile from which the following extracts were taken:

"'The Oldsmobile runabout must be termed a "medium weight" since it belongs to that class of automobiles to which carriages of 800 to 1,100 pounds belong. The body of the vehicle has the lines of a runabout and a curved dash. The wheels are shod with 28x2½ single tube tires. All the machinery, tanks, battery, etc., are in the rear part of the body. A centrally located steering lever is provided to guide the machine and all control levers operated by hand are on the right side of the seat. The engine is of the single cylinder variety with a bore of 4½ inches and a stroke of 6 inches and runs at a speed of about 600 revolutions per minute. The speed of the Oldsmobile on a good road is said to be about 20 miles per hour at a maximum.'"

Mr. Hunter compares this to the present day Oldsmobile with six cylinders capable of all speeds from one to 65 miles per hour in high gear and bodies more luxurious than the average home of 1900. The basic principle of mixing air and gasoline vapor, compressing it in a cylinder and firing the mixture with a spark is about the only thing the present day automobile has in common with its predecessor of 25 years ago, he said.

Red is the most conspicuous color for danger signals, with green second, and blue third, according to recent visibility tests made by the United States Bureau of Standards.

COMPARES PRICES OF CARS AND FOOD

Studebaker Dealer Shows Cost Of Duplex Less Than Commodities

"Costs less per pound than butter," said Don Packer, of Packer Motor Co., Brand and Colorado boulevards, local Studebaker distributors, speaking of the Studebaker standard six duplex phaeton.

"Compare the price of the new Studebaker with the other necessities of life and you will find that the standard six is sold at much less per pound," added Mr. Packer. He gave a list of the market price of ordinary household commodities, the price of the automobile heading the list at 40 cents per pound. Here are the prices:

Studebaker, per pound, 40 cents; butter, 57 cents; eggs, per dozen, 75 cents; tea, per pound, 90 cents; coffee, 50 cents. These figures are an average of the entire country. Mr. Packer directed the list particularly toward women, inasmuch as it put the purchase of a car in a new light. Tea, butter and coffee are used up in a short time while the Studebaker's enduring value was like a brand of her kitchen ware, "wearever."

Highway Chief In Report On Activities

existing system in less than a ten year period. Perhaps the period should be twenty years. In considering the amount of annual funds which should be provided for this purpose, the important point is not how much can the present highway organization spend efficiently, for the organization can be framed to fit the finances.

"The important question is how soon do the people of the state desire the highway system to be completed.

"With a method established for raising construction funds annually, in proportion to the increasing use of the highways, an initial provision of $12,000,000 probably would mount each year sufficiently to accomplish the task in a reasonable time.

"Road building has become so much a part of the life of every community and the demands for highways continues to be so great that, to properly meet these conditions, the highway organization should be placed on a permanent revenue basis.

"The essential need of the present highway situation is a sound basis of financing whereby there can be budgeted in advance the various highway projects to be undertaken each year. Under such a plan the highway commission can outline a definite program and follow it with the assurance funds will be on hand to keep the promises made the people."

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

DAILY FOUNDATION REDUCING DIET

In reducing your weight it is highly important to reduce excess fat only, for the excess fat is the only tissue that you can spare. Therefore, in your reducing diet you must supply the needs for your other tissues. This means vitamines, mineral elements, protein and part of your energy, needs.

I want you to have a certain foundation in those 1200 C.'s every day to supply these needs so that in reducing your weight you will not reduce your strength and health at the same time. After you have this foundation you can make your own choice of foods for the balance of the diet. You should have:

First: At least a half pound, but better a pound, of some watery vegetables (the green leaf vegetables are especially good)—lettuce, spinach, celery, asparagus, watercress, cabbage, beet top greens, tomatoes, etcetera. A pound of these, cooked or uncooked, without fat, will be approximately 100 C.

Second: One-half pound of other vegetables, such as carrots, beets, onions, etc. That will approximate another 100 C.

Third: 200 C. of fruit. The following approximate 100 C. each: One large apple, orange, banana, pear; one-half large grapefruit; one melon, 4½ inches in diameter; one cup of berries, grapes or cherries; three or four plums, apricots, lemons or peaches; three or four dates, two or three figs; one-fourth cup of raisins or currants. Better make your dessert of fruit.

Your fruit and vegetables will furnish a large share of the vitamins and mineral elements and some carbohydrates or energy foods. It is best to take a large part of them raw. Fruits and vegetables are more or less similar foods, so if you cannot get vegetables, you can take more fruit, and vice versa.

Fourth: Every day you should have at least one pint of skim or buttermilk. That will amount to 160 C. (10 C. to the ounce) of which about 75 C. are complete protein. Milk will also give you a liberal supply of calcium or lime. If you prefer whole milk you will have to count it a total of 320 calories to the pint (20 calories to the ounce).

If you do not care for milk, take three ounces (about two heaping tablespoonfuls) of cottage cheese. This you will need count only 100 C., but it will give you 75 C. of complete protein, and the lime, the same as the milk would. Other cheeses are good but they count higher in calories (one inch cube of cream cheese to 100 C.).

Fifth: I want you to have two average sized potatoes, 200 C., or two slices of whole wheat bread, one-half inch thick, same number of calories. Those of you who are gouty or rheumatic had better take the potatoes instead of the bread because of their alkalin salts.

Sixth: Protein. You must have about 100 C. more or protein, besides what you get in the milk. You can get this, in a large measure, in three or four ounces of lean meat or fish (150 C. total) or two or three eggs (one egg 75 C., about 30 protein C.). Or 20 large peanuts (total 200 C.) will give you 40 C. good protein.

What I have outlined for you comes approximately to 900 calories. That leaves you 300 calories more to choose as your taste dictates. You can take some simple candy, the value of which you can judge by the sugar, one ounce of sugar containing 115 calories. Or you can have part of an ordinary slice of pie which is 300 to 600 C., depending upon its richness; or some ice cream (the same number of calories). But I advise you not to take these because it is best to learn not to care for them.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

EYELASH DARKENING

To many fair girls and women, the problem of what to do with scant, almost invisible eyebrows and eyelashes is a very great one. An eyebrow pencil can be used to shadow the brows. If lightly applied and most of the color rubbed off, it will mark the brows and for a few hours greatly emphasize the beauty and size of the eyes.

There are no permanent eyelash stains; a solution of India ink can be used as a temporary one but this washes off and there is danger of getting it into the eyes and of staining the skin around the forehead. Besides it is more important to darken the lashes than the brows, and nothing can be used here that is any way harmful, or the sight may be affected.

Try this, it is my solution, and I have found it really wonderful. Hold a candle under glass and smoke it thickly as you would if you wanted to see an eclipse. Keep on until you have a fine collection of soot. Scrape off into a tiny saucer (use a butter pat) with a pen knife. It's messy, but never mind. Now take a white cream lip stick, push out about half of it, and mix it, using the knife blade with the soot. Use your judgment about the blackness of your cream, make and add more soot if you haven't a thick, black cream. I can't give you quantities for you can't measure the soot.

If you haven't a white cream lipstick and cannot buy one, use vaseline. But the cream is thicker and has more body and melts at a higher temperature, therefore is better to use.

Rub a mere speck of this over the eyelashes with your fingers. Take a bit between thumb and first finger and rub in. Rub on the brows too. It darkens and makes the lashes seem longer and thicker and it is quite harmless. Try it and you'll be delighted as I was.

Bud: A healthy school girl of 16, height five feet, three inches, should weigh 120 pounds. These are insurance table weights, and I find them from five to ten pounds too much because nowadays we admire the slender type and all try to cultivate it. Ten pounds under, if the weight should be around 130 or more, is a healthy weight.

Mrs. Alice: Wrinkles under the eyes are natural, two or three of them exist from childhood and are called laughing wrinkles. If there are lots you must use cold creams and massage and astringents to make them less noticeable. For hairs on the legs shave or use a depilatory powder. You can't pull them all out. They aren't very attractive so I think a depilatory powder the best way. They'll come back and have to be removed again, but you can't help that.

Anxious: See your doctor about protruding ears. Sometimes they are cured by wearing a cap at night, sometimes a doctor must cut a little cord behind each ear. The expense isn't much. Your doctor will know.

Tomorrow: Ugly Nostrils

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question—The Editor.

He relies on mother, preacher and teacher to train him." Mesdames Mae Rosenberg, E. B. Moore and C. L. Viereck are to go to Azusa next Wednesday to demonstrate circle work there. ELKS' RULER GETS HEARTY WELCOME

Local Lodge Joins With Others In Greeting John G. Price

Glendale Elks lodge joined Pasadena and Los Angeles lodges last night in honoring Grand Exalted Ruler John G. Price with a banquet and reception at the Elks' clubhouse in Los Angeles. Officers and a number of members of Glendale lodge were present at the banquet, attended by more than 300 Elks. They attended the meeting in the club lodge rooms later, when 3000 Southern California Elks paid tribute to the grand exalted ruler.

Earl S. Patterson, exalted ruler; James Apffel and Albert D. Pearce, past exalted rulers; Jess Headley and Earl Garren, Gerald Dockery, Murry Durham, James McBride, Gus Pulliam and Dr. Paul J. Holmes were the officers present from Glendale. Following the banquet at 7 o'clock, the antlered herd repaired to the lodge rooms. A report on the year's work in Glendale was made by Exalted Ruler Patterson. Mr. Patterson particularly dwelt on the commendable record made in charity work by the lodge. Presentation of a gold watch, the gift of Glendale, Pasadena and Los Angeles lodges to Mr. Price, was made during the meeting.

Mr. Price's Speech

In his address in response to the many honors showered upon him by the lodgemen, Grand Exalted Ruler Price said:

"I've traveled 20,000 miles since last July, inspecting Elks' lodges, and expect to lengthen the total to 40,000 within the next few months. This is my second trip to Southern California within a comparatively short time and I can easily see from the climate during my stays here why this section has such an appeal to those from other parts of the country."

Mr. Price said that the building for the Elks' grand lodge in Chicago will be completed some time this year. Dedication ceremonies will probably be postponed until the national convention of the order in 1926, he said, to permit the largest number of members possible to attend the services.

MICKEY WALKER OUTPOINTS MIKE

Welterweight Champ Gets Popular Decision Over McTigue at Newark

By TOM THORP
For International News Service

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 8.—Mickey Walker, welterweight champion, gained a clean-cut decision over Mike McTigue, light heavyweight title-holder, in a fast and furious 12-round bout at the First Regiment armory last night.

Walker had a clean lead on his heavier opponent in eight of the twelve rounds. The fifth was even while McTigue was given credit for the sixth, seventh and eighth. In all of the others Walker displayed superior fighting ability. It could be no more than a popular decision, for the Jersey laws permit no other. Walker could have added another title only by a knockout.

Walker gained the popular decision by carrying the fight to his adversary from the opening to the final gong. The weights were: Walker, 149¾; McTigue, 160. McTigue attempted to fight a defensive battle. His work was of the inferior sort. Time and again when Walker wanted to go at a fast pace he was stopped by McTigue's holding on.

Cornhuskers Hosts to Fighting Irish Team

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 8.—Another post-season meeting—featuring the football teams of the Universities of Nebraska and Notre Dame—was scheduled to take place here today. The occasion will lack the traditional gridiron atmosphere of other Corn Husker-Notre Dame encounters, however, as rivalry between the teams will be confined to after-dinner speeches.

With the exception of Knute Rockne, the coach, and Jim Crowley, halfback, who are reported to have remained in California, the entire Notre Dame squad will be guests of honor at a banquet here tonight arranged by the Nebraska football team—the team that unhorsed the Irish cavalry two years out of three. The intercollegiate champions will arrive in Lincoln early this afternoon and resume their homeward journey late tonight.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—With the basketball season now under full headway throughout the country it is worthy of note that the game is beginning to occupy some such place in the scheme of intercollegiate winter athletics as football occupies in the fall.

Adjoining Grant field in Atlanta, Georgia Tech has just erected a large frame building with adequate accommodation for a large number of spectators and adequate floor space which will be devoted exclusively to basketball.

So far as the writer knows this is the first building of the sort in the country. It will do a lot for Tech basketball in particular and the southern game in general.

In the east, principally through the games of the intercollegiate league, the floor game is a real money-maker, while in the middle west there is not a conference institution—not even Michigan with her indoor stadium, seating 15,000 spectators—which can meet the full demand for admission to a Big Ten basketball game.

Football is the one college sport that pays consistently in all the conference colleges, but athletic authorities of the Big Ten are waking up to the fact that basketball can be played in the same category by meeting the clamor of basketball enthusiasts for seats at the intercollegiate contests.

Chicago already is planning to meet the situation by building a field house somewhat after the manner of the Yost building at Ann Arbor and Wisconsin is talking of a project to get permission of the regents of the university to erect a building for basketball at Camp Randall, to be paid for out of receipts of contests held therein—the same system employed in defraying the cost of the football stadium.

At the present time none of the western colleges—nor in fact insitutions in any part of the country—cater to the general public for patronage. The demands of undergraduates and alumni in most cases cannot be met.

Wisconsin men estimate that they could draw 5000 spectators at the preliminary season games at Madison and from 10,000 to 15,000 at the regular conference games. The gymnasium at Madison does not begin to offer adequate seating accommodations and this is the case everywhere except at Michigan.

With resources for handling all who wish to attend basketball games, the sport, which just about pays for itself under present conditions, would become a financial producer and materially relieve football of some of the burden it now bears as a supporter of the general athletic establishment.

It is rather interesting to note the trend away from the old gymnasium idea toward the field house with its large indoor cinder track, its clay basketball surface, swimming pools and the like.

$78,000,000 Available For Rivers, Harbors

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—An agreement was reached between waterways advocates and House leaders under which about $78,000,000 will be made available for rivers and harbors improvements in legislation at the present session. A reduction of $15,000,000 in the special rivers and harbors authorization bill will be effected by paring allotments of projects and reducing harbor improvements. Major projects, such as improvements at Los Angeles, are not to be abandoned.

BOXING BODY IS HIT BY CRITICS

Secretary Yarwood Rules No Manager Can Be Second For Man In Ring

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8.—Governor Richardson's state boxing commission was the target of critics here today following circulation of reports that work on Tom McCarey's proposed new boxing arena at Compton had been stopped and that Secretary Walter Yarwood of the commission had ruled managers would be barred in the future from seconding their boxers.

McCarey, a veteran California promoter, who conducted the Abe Attell-Johnny Kilbane and other famous California battles, admitted today work had been suspended on his new arena, planned to seat 50,000 persons, and it was understood McCarey, as well as Jim Coffroth of San Diego, had been given word by the boxing commissioners they would not be permitted to promote bouts.

Managers of boxers said that if it were true that Secretary Yarwood planned to eliminate managers as seconds they would appeal to the commission for a hearing, and branded the reported ruling as "silly and ridiculous." Several managers said they would defy the commission and insist on seconding their fighters.

U. S. C. Officials Look For Notre Dame Game

LOS ANGELES, Jan., 8.—While no definite announcement of signing the proposed Notre Dame-University of Southern California football game in Chicago next fall was made here today, following the election of Fay Thomas, tackle, as 1925 captain of the squad, U. S. C. authorities and they were optimistic about the game being scheduled.

We hope that Notre Dame will agree to play here in 1926, and then we can announce the Chicago game as a cinch," declared Gwynn Wilson, graduate manager of U. S. C.

Reports received here were that Notre Dame preferred a game in Chicago with Stanford, but that the Palo Alto university had refused to sanction the contest.

Farr Wins Decision Over Dynamite Murphy

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 8.—To Johnny Farr, Oakland bantam, belongs the distinction of being the first boxer to push leather for the limit decision distance and win since the revival of fights of more than four rounds in California. Farr met "Dynamite" Murphy of Sacramento in the boxing mart here last night for the purpose of batter and exchange, but Murphy's eye for business and distance was equally poor and he got cheated in at least eight out of the ten rounds of trading.

Ace Hudkins Without Manager, Body Rules

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 8.—Ace Hudkins, Nebraska lightweight boxing champion, now fighting in Southern California, is without a manager as far as the Nebraska state boxing commission is concerned, it was learned here today. In the hearing of the controversy between Pat O'Boyle of Omaha and Harry Reed of Lincoln, both claiming contracts over Hudkins, the commission ruled the question was one for adjustment in the courts.

Rodgers Named Boss Of Peoria Ill Club

PEORIA, Ill., Jan. 8.—William (Bill) Rodgers, former major league player and manager of clubs on the Pacific Coast, Western and Eastern leagues, was today appointed manager of the Peoria Tractor club in the Three-I league for the 1925 season.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Whether or not George Kelly of the Giants is disciplined by Commissioner Landis for signing to play basketball on the Pacific coast on a team which included Jimmy O'Connell, the central figure in the recent Giant-Kelly bribery scandal, there can be no question that Kelly took a foolish chance in getting mixed up again with O'Connell. Kelly, it will be remembered, was one of the men O'Connell claimed was "in the know" at the time of his attempt to bribe Sand of the Phillies to throw a game.

That O'Connell could have been on a team of which Kelly was a member also seems to show that out in California they do not hold his offense very seriously. But probably it is not because they wish to flout baseball. On the contrary, the baseball men on the coast have been very careful to see that O'Connell's suspension be followed to the letter.

Strictly speaking, there is no definite rule in organized baseball by which it would be possible to take action against a ball player for continuing his membership in a social club of which a baseball player ineligible also is a member. In other words, Kelly can continue to belong to the basketball promoting club, along with O'Connell, even if the coast basketball authorities do not make good their promise to remove O'Connell from the game.

But should Kelly and O'Connell actually appear together in a basketball game, Kelly could be declared ineligible to play baseball. In fact it is probable that such a condition would be held automatically to have rendered Kelly ineligible and no matter how much time elapsed before his transgression came to light, he would be out the moment it was discovered, and all baseball games in which he subsequently played in could be invalid.

It is not certain that the jurisdiction of organized baseball would extend to any other game if the matter were to be treated in the courts. But so far as baseball is concerned, it would take immediate action against Kelly, as is indicated by the attitude of President John A. Heydler of the National league, who has stated that he stands ready to suspend Kelly if Kelly appears with O'Connell in a basketball game.

Of course if organized basketball wishes to play O'Connell, there is nothing to prevent it, as there is no governing body to say the nay. But it certainly will not help the standing of the sport any. If it develops that Kelly already has played games with teams of the same club as that to which O'Connell belongs, but has not actually played on the same team with O'Connell, it is probable that organized baseball will not attempt any action—provided either Kelly or O'Connell gets out now.

Still, Kelly has given the organized baseball body a twinge of pain by getting mixed up with O'Connell. The entire matter hinges on whether a man can belong to a club with another and not be considered as a disgraced baseball player.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Most of the speculative markets reacted today from the buoyant upward movements which characterized the first three sessions of the week on the stock market. Offering in industrial stocks were large and prices heavy, the market developing a strong tone and prices started a modest climb to higher levels.

The oil and steel stocks were the most active of the industrials, though individual stocks in the motor, equipment and mercantile groups gave evidence of their popularity. Sears Roebuck's rise to a new high at 162 was notable. Marine preferred was only fractionally below the price record of 1924.

U. S. Steel was a powerful leader in the industrial list and most of the independent steels were disposed to follow the lead of the market's bellwether. To the good impression created by the fact that the steel market is gradually becoming a seller's market, has been added the almost general reports of larger operations. Unfilled tonnage of the steel corporation, to be reported officially on Saturday, are already estimated at 600,000 tons.

As in the previous session, there was a tendency on the part of traders to avoid the spectacular and swiftly moving market specialties and to concentrate on the better grade of old line dividend payers with a long record of conservative management and moderate dividend payments. Traders were not disposed to sell stocks recently acquired and bear "drives" accomplished little in the way of dislodging holdings of speculative stocks.

Rails were inactive, with some of the recently prominent stocks retreating to lower levels under profit-taking. St. Paul was heavy and so was Southern Pacific, Reading and Union Pacific. Money flowed back to 2 per cent in the fourth hour. Time money rates were unchanged.

Stock sales today 1,774,800 shares; bonds $16,272,000.

GRID SCANDAL AT WYOMING LOOMS

Cal Hubbard Will Return To Centerary College; Three To Remain

LARAMIE, Wyo., Jan. 8.—Cal Hubbard, captain-elect of Centenary college football team of Shreveport, La., has announced that he would leave here for the southern city soon and resume his studies at Centenary. Bard Farrell, Paul Rebashen and Phillips, three other former members of the Centenary team, who registered at Wyoming univeristy along with Hubbard will remain here, it was said.

Coach "Lone Star" Dietz of the Wyoming football team, denied all responsibility for the men being induced to come to Wyoming, following charges from southern sources that they had been furnished transportation and promised other advantages for matriculating at the University of Wyoming.

Absolves Coach

A statement from President Crane of Wyoming university, made it plain that the doors of Wyoming were open to all who are eligible, whether athletes or not.

"If these men are qualified to play football and can make the team next season, they are justly entitled to play the grid game," President Crane said, absolving Coach Dietz from charges of inducing the men to come here.

According to undergraduate gossip, the southerners were persuaded to come to Wyoming by Denman, a cowboy grid star, who formerly was a student at Louisiana Tech. Scholastic and climatic advantages were his only argument, he claimed.

LOS ANGELES

By Southland News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8.—Autoists with illegal headlights will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law, according to an announcement today by County Motorcycle Chief Cannon. His announcement followed reports that the state headlight law was defective and could not be enforced during 1925.

Surface cars in Los Angeles will be forced underground by the growing automobile traffic, according to Captain Henry Gleason, traffic chief of San Francisco, who is visiting here today. Gleason declared that no city has more traffic problems to solve than this. There is no such thing as a saturation point for automobiles, he said.

A contract for one year was authorized yesterday by the City Council to the board of public works relative to the city removing sand and gravel from the lands of E. C. Eddy in the Arroyo Seco. A proposed agreement will be acted upon today, whereby all parties shall cease operations in the Arroyo Seco by December 31, 1927.

Suit for $16,000 was filed in superior court yesterday against the Ascot Spedeway association, George R. Bentel and others by G. Brooke, who alleges that on October 12 he entered a car in a 250-mile race driven by Frank Lockhart. The latter won, the complainant avers, and, according to the agreement with defendant, Brooke was to receive the $16,000, which was not paid.

Plans for a new Arizona-Nevada interstate highway were agreed upon by Governor George W. P. Hunt of Arizona and Governor J. G. Scrugham of Nevada ,in a conference at the Biltmore hotel held here yesterday. The new road, which it is expected will be authorized by the legislatures of both states, would open up a great agricultural district in Nevada and would pass by the lost Indian city, recently discovered on the Virgin river in Nevada.

MARKET SUMMARY

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8.—Production of the Signal Hill oil field, Long Beach, during 1924, totaled about 70,000,000 barrels. 2,000,000 barrels more than in 1923. The total production to date totals about 168,000,000 barrels.

The Pennsylvania Mexican Fuel Co. has brought in six wells in virgin territory on Paciena tract, Mexico, one producing 30,000 barrels, and another 20,000 daily. Four more wells are drilling and a pipe line is being laid which will be completed early in February. Officers and directors will not discuss the probable dividend action at the March 11 meeting.

Loading of revenue freight during the first three months of 1925 is expected to be the greatest in history, according to a report submitted to directors of the American Railway association received over the wires of E. F. Hutton & Co. Loading for the three months are estimated at 11,844,125 cars, an increase of 256,851 above the first quarter of 1924, when the previous high record for that period was made.

Houses may be built so that the only heat necessary, even in winter, will be that furnished by the sun, declares a Canadian inspector of buildings.

SPORTDOM ALL OVER

By JOSEPH L. KELLEY
Of The Evening News Staff.

The most glaring, fundamental mistake made by producers today, yesterday and probably tomorrow, is the mutilation with malice aforethought, of literary achievement in order that the so-called 'happy ending' and final clinch may top the climax. Are the 110-odd millions of people in America and other millions elsewhere where flickering drama flickers, to be kidded into believing that their few years on terra firma are one continuous round of happy endings? If you see some unfortunate fellow wandering the streets with feet out of his shoes and pockets empty, are you supposed to laugh and kid yourself into believing he is doing a 'final clinch' with some make-believe numb-skull dizzy blonde in the movies? That sort of reasoning doesn't get you anything or put a whole pair of shoes on tramp's feet.

Joseph L. Kelley

But this is just the kind of philosophy the movies would lead us to believe is universal. "It ain't goin' rain no more" brand of reasoning is all right for an optimist club but all wrong if you're going to look life in the eye and take her at her face value, if she is a "her."

If you go into a bank to borrow some money on the old homestead to keep a flock of kids from starving or freezing, Mr. Banker doesn't give any movie happy ending to his dealings. He calls a dollar a dollar and wants two for every one he hands out with a mortgage on your family flivver in the bargain.

Why was Guy de Maupassant, O. Henry, De Gourmant, Carlisle, Shakespeare and Eugene O'Neil of our own day—why are these authors considered at the head of their class? They didn't "soft-soap" their readers with a lot of impossible castle building and in that group is represented the acme of success in short-story writing, realism, historical writing, and playwriting.

Because Rupert Hughes has an elastic imagination and a soft-soap fountain pen and Elinor Glyn plumbs the depths of illicit romance, are we all to be destined to spend rest of our lives in Elysium, stretching our already overtaxed imagination?

Tom Ince took a chance on Eugene O'Neil's "Annie Christie" only because he saw the commercial value of its past performances on the stage. If some unknown genius afraid to leave his hotel room for fear manager would collar him for last week's rent, had submitted the script of "Annie Christie" to movie industry, young unknown would have been given well-known horse razz.

"It never has been done"—that's the answer movie producers will give you if you are bold enough to suggest something original for a picture. Movie producers don't want something original. They want to tag along in the old, time-worn tracks beaten by the alleged scenarists who still wear suspenders and can't get away from "Uncle Tom's Cabin" as ideal script.

In the same breath in which producer tells you "It never has been done" he will yelp, howl and generally kick over traces because there is something wrong with pictures. The producer who howls loudest is last one to listen to intelligent writers who, unlike the picture industry, occasionally gets an idea.

Because George Fitzmaurice gave Mae Murray a cabaret setting way back in the dark ages of picture production, every producer since that time thinks cabaret scene as essential to success of picture as camera that registers it.

When average producer is handed a script with real dramatic guts to it, he does't call in some unknown writer to get rid of some of his new ideas but rings bell for the scenarist still wearing suspenders. Suspenders scenarist wrote the continuity for "No Mother To Guide Her" and "No Mother to Guide Her" went over big—therefore Suspenders scenarist is just the man to display his ignorance in adapting a real story.

An unknown writer with brains who takes job in one of Hollywood's or New York's scenario departments and gives scenario editor an idea, is fired on general principles for being bold enough to suggest improvement on the alleged art turned out of average studio of today.

A fine example of seemingly innate, stubborn ignorance of average movie producer was illustrated a short time back in Hollywood. W. Somerset Maughan who gave to the stage one of its most successful plays since "Lightnin'" and "East Is West" with more dramatic guts than both of 'em put together, and we refer to "Rain" still running in New York, was called to Hollywood by a certain producer who wanted rights to Maughan's stories.

And then producers yelps and howls and complains "that's something wrong with the movies."

Maughan took a rattler out of New York and eventually hopped off in Hollywood and faced Mr. Producer. Maughan showed Mr. Producer script of one of his stories and here's drift of producer's argument with Maughan:

"Well Mr. Maughan, you know public wouldn't stand for this sequence and that sequence," pointing to Maughan's idea of drama. "I'd have to have my star scenario writer, (the guy still wearing suspenders) change this and change that, you know that sort of thing you write never has been done in the movies."

Maughan took his scripts, placed them back in his bag, bid Mr. Producer good-bye and took a rattler back to New ork. Mr. Producer still is wondering "what a funny writer his fellow Maughan is—he don't know nothin' about filums. He's got to learn lots yet."

Programs broadcast from Chelmsford, England, are heard regularly in Bombay, India, 6,000 miles away, by a youth through his home-made radio set.

water heaters and six by fireplaces.

Inspect Buildings

In order to prevent fires, 1468 buildings were inspected during 1924, Chief Lankford states, 289 burning permits issued and 125 fire hazards investigated. In all, 431 lots were burned off during the year and seventy-four acres of vacant land were burned off.

Drills totaling 1623 hours were conducted, engaging a total of 3764 men. Of this total, 732 hours of street and hydrant drill engaged 2207 men, 383 hours of tower drill engaged 420 men, 323 hours of ladder and equipment drill engaged 754 men, 156 hours of pump drill engaged 264 men, and twenty-nine hours of building and street main drill engaged 119 men.

These figures speak for themselves, Chief Lankford feels, and need no comment from him. The showing is remarkable and few cities in California, or elsewhere in the country, he declares, can produce a better record for 1924.

the battleships, it woud take over two years to do the work.

"It will be done in two years," said Secretary Wilbur."

"It has been assumed in England and Japan that, exclusive of battleships, the whole navy should be on a 5-5-3 ratio," said Britten. "What is your recommendation?"

"That is the wish of the naval experts," said Secretary Wilbur.

Representative Andrew, Massachusetts, suggested, that "even if we built under the program suggested, the United States would still be inferior in speed, range and tonnage to the British ships."

The secretary said this was true of speed and range."

"We would be outranged about 15,000 yards for thirteen of our ships," said Andrew. "In event of an engagement, so far as we are considered, we could only receive fire and could not hit."

FOREIGN TRADE LARGEST IN HISTORY

Exports Exceed Imports by More Than Billion For Old Year

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—With exports of more than a billion dollars in excess of imports, the foreign trade of the United States in 1924 was the greatest of any normal year in the history of the nation, the department of commerce announced today.

Foreign commerce for 1924 was $8,225,000,000, bringing the total since the war to $73,817,000,000. Exports exceeded imports by $18,228,000,000 in the six-year period.

Balance of Trade

The favorable balance of trade was exceeded in the war years and in 1919, 1920 and 1921, but officials pointed out that that period cannot be considered in a comparative analysis of commerce, since then European production practically was at a standstill.

This country exported commodities valued at approximately $4,650,000,000, an increase of 12 per cent over 1923 and 115 per cent over the average for five years before the war.

CALLED 'FICTION'

MOSCOW, Jan. 8.—Soviet officials today classed the report that a plot had been uncovered looking toward the assassination of M. Zinoviev as "fiction," Petrograd officers were said to have led Soviet cadets in the alleged conspiracy.

URGES EFFORT TO CREATE SERVICE

Paul E. Stillman Outlines Plans at Luncheon to Make World Better

"How to Make the World Better" was the theme of an address this noon by Paul E. Stillman before the regular weekly luncheon of the Glendale Rotary club, held at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, President J. Herbert Smith, presiding.

"Development of World Brotherhood Through Improvement of Business Methods" was the subject of the address by Mr. Stillman, who spoke as a member of the business methods committee of the club.

"The eighteenth century brought the world liberty, the nineteenth century brought equality and the twentieth century brought service," he said. "We learn by our mistakes and advancement is slow. We have tried the force of arms and the force of wealth. Now the program is to try the Golden Rule. It is the program of Rotary and of many similar organizations.

None Are Perfect

"We are none of us perfect. The greatest obstacle to the success of this program comes from within us, not from without.

"Applied to business, the program I am outlining means that it is right to get our share, but that we should always see to it the other fellow gets his. This is Rotary—and service."

NO ROLLING STONES.

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 8.—The average length of residence in Santa Barbara county of the five members of the Board of Supervisors is forty-seven years, according to Chairman C. L. Preisker. "This", he declared, "is a good indication that the members of the board are acquainted with the needs of the county and are competent to administer its affairs".

SMALL FIRE LOSS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 8.—Loss by fire here during the past year was less than $4000, it was shown by a report given out by Fire Chief Jack Tinsley. Twenty-two fires were reported during the year. In 1923 the fire department answered twenty-five calls.

BUILD HIGHEST STACK.

SEAL BEACH, Jan. 8.—What is described as the tallest smokestack on the Pacific coast will tower above Seal Beach when a construction gang for the Los Angeles Gas & Electric corporation complete erection of a $1,000,000 plant here. The plant is nearing completion, and the stack now being built by the Los Angeles company, will be erected during this month, it was said. The stack, 20 feet in diameter at the top and 30 feet at the base will be set at an elevation fifteen feet above the sea level and will be 385 feet high. The huge black cylinder will be plainly visible from the north of Signal Hill, since the highest point of the hill is 364 feet.

NEW HOSPITAL PLANNED.

SANTA ANA, Jan. 8.—The Santa Ana Valley Hospital association will erect a new sixty-room fireproof hospital if the board of directors comply with recommendations made by physicians of the city at a recent meeting being held for the purpose of discussing the hospital situation. The building will cost about $125,000.

VENTURA HAS GOOD YEAR.

VENTURA, Jan. 8.—Ventura's building for 1924 amounted to nearly $777,000. While this is less than for 1923, the amount represents more home building than in the former year. New residences in 1924 totalled 267 against 187 in 1923.

'La Salle Street Wolf' Not Expected to Live

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8.—John W. Worthington, former president of the Chicago Clearing House association, and known as "the wolf of La Salle street," is so ill that he showed slight interest and made no comment when he learned here today he would probably never be forced to serve a three-year term in Atlanta prison for using the mails to defraud.

Worthington, who, physicians said, was beyond all hope of recovery, was granted a sixty-day stay of execution by Federal Judge Cliffe in Chicago after federal officers in Los Angeles investigated the state of Worthington's health. The former "wolf," who is living with his wife and daughter in a modest apartment, is semi-paralyzed, suffering with diabetes and heart complications, it was said.

A canary that sings, then replies ventriloquillally as if the noise came from far away, is owned by a New Zealand man.

Tonight's meeting will be the first since December 18, when the association members met with the Chamber of Commerce at the opening of the new Union Pacific depot.

'SUPER' MOVIE HINTED BY DIRECTOR

De Mille's Trip To Europe Points to Something New; Company Snowbound

By MARIAN MARSHALL
For Southland News Service.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 8.—Rumblings of a forthcoming "supermotion picture" followed the departure recently of Director Cecil B. DeMille, and several members of his staff for Europe. It was reported that the DeMille party was bent on combing the highways and byways of Europe to find atmospheric locations, story material and exotic "props" for a film spectacle to be made soon after his return. The nature of the new production is not known, and the presence in the party of Jeanie MacPhearson, author of DeMille's "The Ten Commandments," indicated that the story would slowly be unfolded as the party proceeded through Europe. January 10 has been fixed as the sailing date from New York.

And while DeMille and his party are experiencing the cold wave now sweeping the east, a motion picture company of almost 1,000 players is racing a terrific snowstorm that threatens to isolate them in the high Sierras. They are completing production on Zane Grey's "The Thundering Herd." The company is in the snow belt near Mammoth, 8,000 feet above sea level and 100 miles from the nearest railroad. Five years ago more than sixteen feet of snow fell in this belt within twenty-four hours, completely isolating inhabitants. Indians say the big storm is due this week.

Candy Ball "Set"

What is said to be the largest amount of electricity ever used for the illumination of a motion picture set was consumed recently in Hollywood during the making a "candy ball" in "The Golden Bed." Over 110 electricians were needed to operate 200 floor lights, sunlight arcs, spotlights and navy spotlights. Because the candy decorations of real sugar must glitter and sparkle, each twenty foot candy cane and enormous chocolates of three feet diameter had to be backlighted separately, calling for illumination far beyond the usual needs. The "Candy ball" of the screenplay from Wallace Irwin's novel is promised one of the outstanding spectacles of the screen year. It is the first time that candy has been utilized in such a lavish manner.

Estelle Taylor sent sixty-five boxes of oranges to Wilmington, Del. last week. Every year she has lived in California she has remembered her girlhood chums. And always she has sent something characteristically Californian.

"None of them have spent a winter away from the ice, the cold and the snow," Miss Taylor explained. "They like to be reminded that there is sunshine and warmth somewhere in the world and that they may sometime leave the blizzards behind."

California To Get Decision On Land Case

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—A decision in the California community property case will be announced before Attorney-General Stone retires to become a supreme court justice, a treasury official said today. Secretary Mellon and Stone held a conference and it is understood an agreement has been reached as to the course to be pursued by the government.

Senator Shortridge, Republican of California, has predicted a decision in favor of the taxpayers.

INVITE THREE MAYORS TO MEETING

City Council to Ask Chief Executives to Attend Open Forum Dinner

An invitation to attend the Chamber of Commerce "Open Forum" meeting the night of January 19 was extended this morning by the Glendale City Council to the mayors of Los Angeles, Pasadena and Burbank. This meeting, which is to be under the auspices of the council, will be held at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, and will be preceded by a banquet.

An elaborate program is being worked out, it was intimated by Mayor Spencer Robinson of Glendale. Virgil B. Stone, city manager, was authorized to address letters of invitation to the neighboring mayors.

The council urged that all city officials make a special effort to be present.

Endorse Safety Drive

The safety campaign to be launched throughout California by the Lions' clubs of the state, starting January 20, was approved by the council, and a letter received from Secretary A. R. Holland of the local club, setting forth the details of the campaign, was ordered filed. It is proposed to wage this campaign of caution to motorists by use of posters, windshield stickers and window cards, the letter set forth.

Bids for the improvement of Harvey drive were opened and read by the city clerk. The contract for improvement of Raleigh street was awarded to John H. Henderson.

The hearing on issuance of bonds for improvement of El Rito avenue was continued two weeks. The hearing on establishment of a commercial district on Adams street, between Colorado boulevard and Elk avenue, was continued one week. Application for a commercial district at Porter street and Windsor road was set before the City Planning commission for January 19 and before the council for January 22.

Deny Petition

The council sustained the recommendation of the Planning commission in denying an application for a commercial district on Glenwood road, between Alameda avenue and Spazier street. All further protests were denied at the hearing on assessment for opening and widening of Fifth street, and the amended assessment roll was confirmed.

Resolutions were adopted ordering the city engineer to prepare diagrams of assessments for the opening and widening of Maryland avenue, and for the opening and widening of Graynold avenue and Glenwood road. A resolution was adopted approving the diagram of the assessment district for the improvement of Rock Glen avenue.

An ordinance was offered granting the Glendale-Montrose Railway Co. a twenty-five year franchise to build and operate a spur track leading off Glendale avenue to the new Union Pacific depot.

Will Erect Sign

A permit was granted the Automobile Club of Southern California to place an electric sign above their new headquarters at 413 South Brand boulevard.

A communication from the Burbank city clerk, setting forth that a special election has been set for February 2 in that city, for the purpose of voting on the proposed annexation of territory in the vicinity of the Sunset Canyon Country club, was read by the city clerk and ordered filed.

Plan Humane Society Meeting Friday Night
